County G.O.P. Will Pledge Hoover Support Tomorrow

DEMOCRATS WAGE BITTER VOTE BATTLE

No Indications of Outcome Of Smith, Walsh, Reed Struggle in California

VOTING PLACES TOLD

Managers for Cabinet Man Urge Heavy Balloting to Show Strength to Nation

ORANGE COUNTY voters will go to the polls tomorrow and, with the rest of the California electors, pledge this state's support to Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for the presidential nomination.

That prediction was made without much argument today. Political leaders agree that, with no other aspirant on the Republican ticket of this state, Hoover will poll a huge vote.

The only question remaining to be answered, according to Orange county Republicans, is the size of the vote which will be given to the secretary of commerce. Hoover club heads have urged members of the Republican party to turn in a heavy ballot in order to assure the rest of the United States that

Register Will Furnish Vote Returns

Returns from the primaries in the Santa Ana and Orange county precincts will be tabulated in the editorial rooms of The Register tomorrow night. Persons desiring information on the returns may obtain them by calling telephone numbers 29 or 1650. Due to the fact that there is no contest in the Republican primary and only three in the Democratic, results should be secured early. First returns should be in The Register office as early as 8 o'clock.

California is solidly back of its favorite son.

Hot Bourbon Contest
The only struggle is said to lie in the Democratic ranks, where there seems to be no indication of an agreement today as to the fate of the three candidates for California's governor on that ticket.

Gov. Al Smith of New York, is the only candidate who has attempted to woo Orange county voters. Several of his campaign supporters have spoken in Santa Ana.

Senator Jim Reed, of Missouri swung through Southern California on a speaking tour a few weeks ago and at that time was believed to be making a strong bid for votes.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, is said to be the only out and out candidate on the Democratic ticket in this state. Neither he nor his campaigners

Smoot Opens Attack On Boulder Bill

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Senator Smoot, of Utah, opened the attack on the Johnson-Swinger Boulder dam bill in the senate today, terming the proposed dam "the greatest engineering risk in history."

"I am unwilling to pass this bill merely because it is distasteful to the power interests," Smoot said. "It may be distasteful to them, but it is also distasteful to great sections of our republic."

"It will do much more harm to the innocent bystander than it will to the power interests because it is thoroughly unsound."

Smoot said advocates of the bill are pleading it would provide flood control for the Imperial valley whereas flood control is a minor point. Only $7,000,000 of the $125,000,000 authorized by the bill would be necessary for flood control, he said.

Smoot's speech runs 30,000 words. It is expected to require two days to deliver.

Narcotic Hospital Laws Attacked By Medics' President

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—Criticizing California's new laws for the hospitalization of narcotic addicts, Dr. Percy T. Phillips, of Santa Cruz, president of the California Medical association, today dropped a bombshell into the opening session of the society's annual convention here.

The resolution carried an appropriation of $40,000 for the inquiry.

It was offered by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and told the senate recently charges of corruption, fraud and collusion had been made by former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Bell in a report counselling the interior department in 1921 not to make the leases.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN QUIZ PROPOSAL ADOPTED IN SENATE

To Investigate Contributions To Candidates

Appropriation of $25,000, To Conduct Inquiry, Provided For

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A resolution authorizing appointment of a special committee of five senators to investigate campaign contributions and expenditures of all presidential candidates of both parties was adopted today by the senate.

With unusual swiftness, the resolution was introduced at noon by Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader, referred to the audit and control committee, reported favorably with an amendment and adopted before 1 p. m. The amendment provides an appropriation of $25,000 to conduct the investigation.

It has been customary in recent years to appoint senate committees to keep check of campaign expenditures during the congressional recess and the Democrats' action was in pursuance of that custom.

No important charges of excessive expenditures have yet been made. The resolution directs the committee to ascertain all contributions made to any of the candidates, whether any promises of patronage have been made and what influences have been brought to bear by the candidates in selection of delegates.

It is couched in exact terms of a resolution introduced by Senator Borah, in 1920.

ASA KEYES NOT TO SEEK OFFICE AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles county for the last six years, will not seek the office again in the fall elections, he announced today.

"I have decided not to run again," his brief statement read. "I have been in the district attorney's office for 25 years and I think it is time for me to look to my personal affairs."

Keyes said he would return to the private practice of law.

Keyes gained national prominence through his prosecution of various big Los Angeles criminal trials.

In his most important recent cases, Keyes gained the conviction of William Edward Hickman, murderer of Marion Parker, but failed to hold Almee Semple McPherson, noted woman evangelist, to trial on charges of conspiracy to interfere with justice.

Their Hour Of Greatest Triumph

The central drawing below gives some idea of what New York's reception, today, to the three transatlantic flyers, Von Huenefeld, Koehl and Fitzmaurice, was like. Thousands lined the streets over which the cars carrying the flyers passed and cheered themselves hoarse for the daring and courage which carried the trio safely over the first westward crossing of the Atlantic.

SHARKEY OUTWEIGHS DELANEY 14 POUNDS

NEW YORK, April 30.—Jack Sharkey will have a 14-pound advantage over Jack Delaney when they meet tonight.

PRIME MINISTER GIVEN UNTIL 7 p. m., Wednesday to Answer Request

(By United Press)
LONDON, April 30.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, announced in the house of commons today that Britain had demanded written assurance from Egypt that the assemblies bill, objectionable to England, will be withdrawn.

Egypt was given until 7 p. m. Wednesday to answer the demand, Chamberlain said. If the demand is not met, England will feel free to take whatever action the government deems necessary.

Chamberlain said the new assembly bill is designed to alter the existing law, which has been in operation in Egypt for five years, and enabled Egyptian authorities to maintain a fair state of public order.

"Therefore the assemblies bill for a considerable time has caused his majesty's government grave problems."

GARRETT ATTACKS FARM RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Democratic Floor Leader Garrett, Tennessee, opposed the Haugen farm relief bill today in the house with a warning that it would "subject the agricultural system to exploitation such as never has been seen before in this country."

"It is perfectly easy to visualize a situation, if this bill becomes a law, when the whole agricultural system will be under government control," he declared. "It destroys the farmers' freedom of contract."

It would place agriculture, he said, in the same category with public service corporations, subject to government regulation.

THOUSANDS CHEER TRIO OF TRANSATLANTIC HEROES ON OFFICIAL GOTHAM ARRIVAL

Former German Soldiers and One-Time Enemy Parade Together Before Admiring Multitudes

WIVES ARRIVE FOR RECEPTION

By EARL JOHNSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 30.—Ten years after the end of the great war between Germany and the allies, two former German soldiers and an Irish veteran of the allied air forces paraded in peaceful triumph through the streets of New York today.

While hundreds of thousands cheered their passing and millions more listened in on the celebration by radio, Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld, Maj. James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Hermann Koehl were carried along the route where the 89th division and Gen. John J. Pershing were feted when they returned from war.

Flags of the United States, Germany and the Irish Free State were unfurled for the three men who were first to complete a westward airplane flight across the North Atlantic ocean, a feat that won them a reception such as New York alone knows how to bestow upon her visiting heroes.

An escort of motorcycle policemen cut a path for the official car through the dense crowd to the North river pier, where the aviators boarded the Macom, the city's welcoming tug, for their trip down the river to the Statue of Liberty.

Thousands At Pier
At the pier the police escort encountered its first major difficulty. Between 8000 and 10,000 persons had gathered along the river front.

Police had to fight their way through and finally succeeded in forcing an opening for the car bearing Whalen and the heroes. Miss Herta Junkers joined the flyers at the pier.

All river craft were in dress shape and saluted the Macom as the marine procession passed. Fireboats moved from their berths, spouting water. Fog horns and sirens set up a terrific din.

While the Macom was making its way through the noisy marine escort down the river, the city steamer ship Riverside docked at pier A at the battery with the wives of two of the aviators, Mrs. Herman Koehl and Mrs. James Fitzmaurice. Mrs. Fitzmaurice was accompanied by her young daughter, Patricia.

Sirens Greet Wives
They had been brought in from the steamship Dresden, which had reached quarantine at 10 a. m. The Riverside came through the line of harbor craft that had been waiting for the Macom and fog horns and sirens were set going in their honor.

The two wives started for the city.

SHIP'S CREW FEARED LOST

HALIFAX, N. S., April 30.—The crew of 24 of the Dutch steamer Callisto was believed today to have been lost when the ship foundered off Louisburg, N. S. Reports from Louisburg said the vessel had been in distress off Scatterie. A lifeboat was picked up off Kelp Cove. The Callisto, bound for Louisburg from Rotterdam, was said to have gone ashore off Scatterie island early today in a fog. A patrol reported no sign of the vessel.

CAMPAIGN LOG

(By United Press)

The major political event of the week is the California primary tomorrow where there is a three cornered fight for the Democratic nomination between Sen. James A. Reed, Sen. Thomas J. Walsh and Gov. Al Smith of New York. Smith workers feel a victory for the New York governor would mean assurance of his nomination as the Democratic presidential candidate.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is without opposition in the Republican race.

Reports in New York said that Franklin D. Roosevelt, who placed Gov. Alfred E. Smith in nomination in 1924, again would have that role at the Houston convention. Previous plans to have Mayor James J. Walker of New York place Smith in nomination have been dropped, reports said.

Colonel John S. Dean of Kansas, in a statement through the Curtis for President club, announced that former Gov. Henry

J. Allen of Kansas did not represent the Kansas spirit when he said in a speech in New York recently that Kansas would react favorably to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover.

Political observers in Texas say the fight over control of the Democratic delegation from that state centers between Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York and J. H. Jones, millionaire publisher.

Claude Bowers, editorial writer of the New York Evening World will deliver the keynote address at the Democratic National convention in Houston, Texas, on June 26, it was decided at a meeting of the arrangements committee of the Democratic National committee.

Dr. George T. Harding, father of the late president, who has been spending the winter in Santa Ana, is favoring the candidacy of Frank O. Lowden for president.

Smith is believed to be a strictly "wet" candidate by many voters. While Reed also is reported to have leanings in that direction. What effect the prohibition question will have on balloting remains to be seen.

Rival Forces Predict California Victory

(By GERALD P. OVERTON)

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—One of the most warmly contested presidential primary races the state of California has known ended today with a final salvo of victory prophecies from rival campaign managers.

The balloting of a million and a quarter or more Californians in the primary election tomorrow will be followed with keenest interest by politicians of the nation because of the important bearing it may have on the fate of the candidates.

Democrats will choose from a field of three candidates—Gov. Al Smith, of New York; Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, and Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, is without opposition for the endorsement of California Republicans and the 29 delegates to the Kansas City convention will be pledged to him.

Campaign managers of the three California Republicans and the 29 delegates to the Kansas City convention will be pledged to him.

The Democrats hopeful Campaign managers of the three Democratic candidates read the latest signs of the trend of opinion on the eve of balloting and sent out hopeful word to local organization workers.

"We will carry the state from Del Norte county on the north to San Diego county on the south," said Henry H. McPike, chairman of the Smith organization, "and we are going to come out ahead of Walsh in Los Angeles county."

Los Angeles is the home county of William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1924, who has thrown the weight of his political influence to Walsh.

Justus S. Wardell, one of the delegates on the Smith ticket, predicted a majority of more than 50,000 for the New York governor. "The Smith propaganda has failed to register with California voters," said John O. Davis, of the Walsh campaign organization. "They know Tammany has not reformed."

"The Walsh slate of delegates will win out tomorrow. The southern section of the state will give Walsh a lead the northern sections favorable to Smith cannot overcome."

Read Workers Optimistic While the Smith and Walsh forces are at each other's throats tomorrow, Read workers predict he will roll up the necessary vote to win the California delegation.

"The Independent Democrats of California have given serious attention to Senator Reed's plea for honesty in government," said William P. Hubbard, Reed's manager.

"They are going to nominate him tomorrow in preference to the Tammany candidate and the candidate picked to fill the shoes of William G. McAdoo."

Hoover headquarters predicted he will receive the largest vote ever given a Republican candidate in a California presidential primary election.

A heavy California vote for the secretary of commerce will show the nation that the west is solidly behind his candidacy, his managers pointed out.

Although 1,849,979 voters are registered in the state, it was estimated the primary election vote would total 1,350,000 or 1,500,000.

Under the new election law the polls in many communities, particularly the heavily populated districts, where the count will be of utmost importance, will remain open until 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Democratic Leaders Await California Results

BY PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 30.—The ears of Democratic leaders are cupped to hear the result of the California primary tomorrow. There Governor Smith, Senator Walsh of Montana, and Senator

Reed of Missouri, will fight out their candidacies in open competition for the first time.

The fight means more than the mere selection of California delegates, because California is the home state of William G. McAdoo, Smith's contestant in the 1924 convention.

It is the first time the three outstanding candidates of the party have gone before the voters and the Smith people believe that a victory there means the fight is over.

Walsh Indorsed by McAdoo McAdoo has indorsed Walsh and his state organization has been working for the discovery of the Teapot Dome scandals. But many Democratic leaders through the state have indorsed Smith. Reports in Democratic circles here have indicated that the fight lies particularly between Walsh and Smith.

If Smith should win in McAdoo's home state, his supporters believe all opposition to him will be discouraged. They even are talking of the possibility that the Houston convention may nominate him by acclamation after the first ballot.

The California situation was the chief topic of discussion as the committee on arrangements met here today to select a keynote speaker for the convention and make other plans.

Claude Bowers, editorial writer of the New York World and author of several Democratic party histories, is slated for the post. He is favorable to Smith.

Only Primary Of Week The California primary is the only one of the week. Republican conventions will be held in Tennessee, Arkansas, Utah and Washington. Secretary Hoover has no opposition in the Republican California race and his campaign managers expect to get the delegates to be chosen in Tennessee and Washington.

In Arkansas, former Governor Lowden is putting up a contest and in Utah the delegation is expected to be uninstructed.

Close Vote In Bourbon Race Seen In Southland

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—With the respective local headquarters claiming certain victory for their candidates, a close vote was predicted in Southern California in the selection of Democratic delegates to the national convention, the only contested issue of California's presidential primary tomorrow.

Because of the support of William Gibbs McAdoo and the fact that Southern California ordinarily votes dry, Senator Thomas Walsh, of Montana, was expected to draw a large ballot.

The number of former New Yorkers in the state gave promise that Gov. Al Smith would receive a heavy vote in Southern California, while Senator James Reed, of Missouri, through his personal speaking tour, won many friends here.

Some 300,000 people will cast ballots in Los Angeles county, the registrar's office estimated.

Of local interest, a 6,000,000 bond issue, for the purchase and equipment of three municipal airports, will be on Los Angeles city ballots.

Brotherhoods Approve Hoover Race In Indiana

CLEVELAND, O., April 30.—A circular directed to Indiana labor circles, approving the presidential candidacy of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in Indiana, was issued here today by executives of 12 brotherhoods.

The circular was drafted at a recent meeting here. Brotherhoods represented included engineers, firemen and engine-men, conductors, clerks, maintenance of way men, blacksmiths, signal men, marine engineers, electrical workers, machinists, train dispatchers and boilermakers.

Uninstructed Mississippi Delegates For Hoover

JACKSON, Miss., April 30.—Twelve uninstructed delegates to the Republican national convention were selected at a meeting here today of "white" Republicans of Mississippi.

A poll of the delegates, however, showed Herbert Hoover the predominating choice.

BOULDER MEASURE SCORED BY SMOOT

Senator Ashurst read into the record a newspaper article stating that an appeal had been made to San Diego, Calif., citizens to contribute money to establish a lobby in Washington for the bill.

The appeal was supposed to have been made by the Imperial Valley Conservation association.

Ashurst made his charge after Senator Walsh, Montana, had called attention to evidence before the federal trade commission indicating that the so-called power combine was working against the pending Johnson-Swing Boulder dam.

Ashurst referred to Walsh's presidential candidacy and said: "A man who aspires to be president should present both sides of a question."

Walsh replied he was interested particularly "in the activities of the power trust" and that the Boulder dam matter was only an incident.

hall to wait until after the reception.

By the time the Macom docked, after circling the Statue of Liberty in the harbor, the military parade had formed in Broadway.

It mattered not to the crowds that the reception was a "staged" affair. They turned out just the same and cheered just as wildly as though the same heroes had not been twice before, once by train and once by airplane.

They were coming by water now, the only route for a real hero, due to the superior facilities for greetings at the Battery.

Noisy Welcome All previous demonstrations of the day were surpassed when Grover Whalen and his guests stepped off the Macom and entered the official automobiles. All kinds of horns, whistles and squawks were employed to let the flyers know that they were welcome.

"Hey, Fitz!" and "Hoch, hoch!" the crowds shouted.

Fitzmaurice wore a big smile. The baron's broad grin seemed to help him hold his monocle in place. Koehl was talking excitedly in a high falsetto.

A dozen airplanes circled overhead through the bits of paper and tape which had been whirled upward from the tall buildings.

Mayor James J. Walker, Mrs. Walker, the flyers' wives and representatives from the German and Irish embassies were waiting in the reviewing stand.

Police struggled valiantly to hold back the crowds as the official automobiles, carrying the flyers, rolled into the plaza before the reviewing stand.

Baron First Presented Baron Huenefeld was first to be presented to Mayor Walker. They shook hands on the platform before the crowd. Koehl was next presented and then Fitzmaurice.

As soon as the official presentations were over, Mayor Walker stepped to the front of the platform amid tumultuous cheering and delivered his address of welcome.

Baron Von Huenefeld was the first of the heroes to respond to the official greeting:

"We are very thankful for the reception accorded us in America and New York," the baron said.

"You have been very kind to us and we will always remember the visit and we bring with us best greetings from our peoples in Germany."

Koehl spoke next.

Koehl Expresses Thanks "We thank you very much for the reception," he said. "It is very hard for me to tell you what I feel. I thank you very, very much with all my heart."

Koehl's heroic effort to make himself understood in English was recognized by the crowd with waves of cheering and "hocks."

Fitzmaurice, the smiling Irishman, was more composed than the Germans. He spoke with a slight English accent, hardly Irish.

"The welcome and reception you have extended to my German colleagues and myself overwhelms me," he said. "It is something I have never witnessed before. I cannot find words which even in a small degree will express our appreciation."

"Being an Irishman, I feel perfectly at home in New York."

To Madison Square After the aviators had been presented with the city's testimonial scroll, the parade formed again and moved to Madison square, where the crew of the "Bremen" placed a wreath on the city's war memorial, the eternal light.

Before leaving the city hall, Koehl and Fitzmaurice met their wives for the first time. Mrs. Koehl and Mrs. Fitzmaurice had been sitting on the opposite side of the reviewing stand when the aviators were brought in.

COLONIAL CLOCKS

MOST clocks are—well just clocks. But a Colonial clock has a lovable personality. Everyone gives first place in their affections to the companionable Grandfather clock—the clock that lives on and on unchanged by the whims of fashion.

There's a place in your home for such a lovable personality. You'll treasure it and depend upon it. Its enduring worth will be prized more and more highly from generation to generation.

As one by one your other possessions grow obsolete and valueless, your Colonial clock will tower higher and higher as a treasure most precious.

We invite you to come and see these Colonial Clocks and talk over the plans of finding a place in your home for one of them.

Dr. R. O. Grover, chiropractor, for the past seven years a resident of Long Beach, has moved to Santa Ana, opening offices at 1070 West Fourth street. Dr. Grover states that before making his professional and residential home at Santa Ana he inspected many locations in Southern California, none of which appealed to him as did Orange county, particularly Santa Ana.

H. P. DeLongy, attorney of Orange, was arrested this morning on a charge of assault, after he is asserted to have struck Charles E. Dunn, also of Orange. Dunn, according to police, stumbled against DeLongy while the latter was standing gazing in a window. The case will be heard before Judge Ingie Thursday morning.

Temper Justice With Philosophy

HONOLULU, April 30.—Hawaii's leper settlement at Kalaupapa has a magistrate who is a patient possessed of considerable local fame as a philosopher. He is Caesar S. Nascimento and in addition to dispensing justice he also presides over the post office.

One of his recent rulings came to light when a case was appealed. It was a disorderly conduct case where in a husband received only a light fine.

"Some women make a big thing out of a small thing," wrote the magistrate, "women should think twice before making complaints. If police were not so hasty in making arrests on complaints by women, life in Kalaupapa would be much more pleasant. Also the magistrate would not have to hear so many trivial disputes."

SCIENTISTS PROTEST

MOSCOW, April 30.—The Russian Academy of Science has appealed to men of science everywhere to protest against its alleged exclusion from the Pacific ocean scientific congress to take place next year in Java.

It appears from a formal protest filed with the committee of this congress by Sergey Oldenburg, secretary of the Russian academy, that the exclusion is due to the belief that "the government of Holland is unlikely to permit Russian delegates entrance to Java island." A group of Russian professors, headed by the academician B. L. Komaroff, was intending to participate in the gathering.

L. B. OFFICERS SEEK W. A. DODD IN FRAUD CASE

Police officers throughout the country have been asked to search for William A. Dodd, former Santa Ana man, who is wanted by Long Beach officers on fraud charges. Dodd recently served a term in the Orange county jail on check charges.

Dodd is asserted to have bounced individuals out of amounts ranging from $50 to $150 and to have left a trail of bad checks. In addition he is said to have left a disappointed fiancée.

Dodd's activities came to the attention of Long Beach police officers when two of his asserted victims reported making deposits with Dodd. The man's system was to advertise in newspapers for employees, requiring them to make deposits as a guarantee against default.

According to police, Dodd purchased the Oriental Cleaning establishment in Long Beach with a worthless check and used this establishment as headquarters. After giving up this location, Dodd was employed by a dry cleaning firm and disappeared after placing the company's delivery car in a garage.

Approximately 30 complaints on Dodd's activities have been received by Long Beach police. The state labor department is investigating numerous labor claims, it is reported.

After disappearing from Long Beach, Dodd went to Los Angeles and wrote a letter to his fiancée, stating that he had been called away on urgent business, police declare.

PURSE SNATCHER GIVEN SENTENCE

Frank Kidd, 16-year-old purse snatcher, will go to the Preston industrial school this week following sentence passed on him Saturday morning in juvenile court.

According to probation officials, Kidd admitted snatching two or three purses from women on the streets here during the past several weeks. Officers believe, they said, that he is responsible for six purse snatching cases reported.

Kidd, whose home is in Anaheim, was arrested in Los Angeles on a similar charge and sentenced to Preston from there. Los Angeles officers learned that the youth was wanted here and that he was a resident of this county and transferred the case to the courts here.

L. A. Warren, probation officer, said Kidd would be taken to Preston this week.

MONKEY IN BUSINESS

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—Monkey business turned a fire into a farce recently. The blaze was in a pet shop. Firemen released a cage full of monkeys and the fun was on. The animals climbed on the stock shelves and started throwing packages of bird seed, dog biscuits and what not at the firemen. When the blaze had been extinguished it was found that monkey business had started it. They had chewed the insulation from electric wires and shorted the line.

U. S. SYSTEM IS IN FAVOR WITH FOREIGN LANDS

By J. W. T. MASON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 30.—Europe's postwar dictatorships are beginning to be called "American democracies" on the principle that in the United States the president is a stronger executive than any prime minister under a parliamentary system of government.

Marshal Pilsudski, who has just had his dictatorship in Poland confirmed by a general election, is credited with being the originator of this explanation of the European drift away from legislative absolutism. It is a pleasing explanation, since despite the unpopularity of the United States abroad, "American efficiency" is a magic expression in many European countries.

However little basis there may be for likening the transatlantic dictators to American presidents, it is quite true that the world's democracies are now balancing, in a partly unconscious way, the rival systems of parliamentary government as evolved in Europe and the dual parliamentary-executive government as evolved in the United States. Marshal Pilsudski has put forth a new idea by calling attention to this fact.

In Europe, before the World war, parliaments were supreme. They overthrew cabinets at will and it was impossible for any prime minister to hold office in constitutional countries without having a parliamentary majority at his back. The American method whereby the president is not dependent on parliament was regarded by Europeans previous to the war as a somewhat clumsy device and as leading to friction not only in American domestic affairs but also internationally.

For Europeans found from time to time, the American president could not be considered the spokesman of his country. Congress and especially the senate had to be taken into consideration.

Nevertheless, despite these occasional obstacles to smooth understandings the American system was discovered during the war to be capable of wide elasticity. In an emergency, the American president became in the effect supreme, being supported by public opinion, and able to undertake activities on his own authority quite beyond the power of any European parliamentary leader. Europe saw that the American president was able to evolve working agreements which permitted a double independence that the Europeans could not duplicate by their own parliamentary methods.

The breakdown of parliamentary authority after the war carried with it the breakdown of the European cabinet system. The dictatorships which have since arisen, have tried to retain some semblance of parliamentary lawmaking while keeping parliament subordinate to the executive branch of the government—that is, to the dictators. In this move, it is possible to see Europe undergoing preliminary steps toward an eventual adoption of the American principle of democratic government, with, perhaps, some modification which experience may show to be desirable on the other side of the Atlantic.

The basic factor in the European dictatorship rules is the independence of the executive branch of the government. This, too, is what marks the essential difference between the American system and the prewar European system. Germany, before the war, tried the experiment of making the cabinet independent of parliamentary majorities but the spirit of democracy was lacking because the subservience of the legislature made it possible for them to be overruled by the threats of the war lords and the chancellor.

Germany now has adopted the old-fashioned parliamentary control system with the result that cabinet instability is constant and ministerial crises are never far off. The Hohenzollern failure has made the idea of a dictatorship abhorrent to the German people. There is little likelihood of Germany following the example of her European neighbors in this respect.

But Germany's parliamentary evolution is still incomplete. There is constant examination in Germany of possible ways of overcoming the defects of Reichstag rule. The adoption of the American system in Germany, modified to some extent, might well result in a return of the European dictatorships to democracy. It would be a curious spectacle if Germany were to make the continent of Europe safe for democracy in this way but that is a distinct possibility of the future.

Music In Villages Association's Aim

NEW YORK, April 30.—A campaign to carry music to small towns will be promoted throughout the United States, it was announced today by the Playground and Recreation Association of America. The organization plans to extend nationally a movement begun in Adirondack villages by the Lake Placid club and aims to open greater musical opportunities to the 52,000,000 persons who live in towns of 2500 population or less and who, in many cases, have had no musical education and are unable to read even the simplest music.

Its first objective will be to further the work among villages of New York state. Music "missionaries" already have been placed in 64 towns, with the co-operation of the state education department, which pays half the salaries of these music teachers. The rest of the expense has been met by the local boards of education.

Choruses, glee clubs, orchestras, choirs, music festivals and operettas are among the community music activities which have been started. With the aid of the radio and phonograph, musical appreciation has been taught to the little red school house and the country around it.

Large towns and cities will be urged to reach out into the country with their musical resources, holding annual music festivals in which rural groups as well as others may compete.

The dearth of musical education and of opportunities to hear good music found in northern New York is true of small towns in many other states, according to the association.

FRANK, EARNEST IS JOE VANDERGRIFF, Pa., April 30.—There's nothing sneaky or hypocritical about Joseph Polka, of this city, who, on discovering his affection for the wife of Andrew Gallick, told Andrew in no uncertain terms that he liked Mrs. Gallick, that he intended to run off with her, that he would kill Gallick at the slightest interference, and would kill Mrs. Gallick if she refused to accompany him. Polka is being held by police.

I've tried everything "from pitch and toss to manslaughter." My competitors think I'm committing financial suicide to go up stairs. Well, maybe so, maybe so. I think this town needs an exclusive watch and clock shop. In fact I'm so sure of it that I'm going to try it. When you bring your watch up to my shop, I'll fix it so good it will run down, by itself.

"Remember, you can't keep a good man down."

You Can't Rely on Luck

AFTER ALL, be as careful as you can—but you can't be sure of escaping an accident. Surely, it is a matter of chance that it is your neighbor, and not you, who falls and breaks his neck. Or, that a falling building cornice gives the other fellow a fractured skull and a six months' stay in the hospital.

You simply can't rely on luck or being careful. The sensible thing is Accident Insurance. The rates are so low you cannot possibly afford to be uninsured.

We would appreciate an opportunity to explain the protection afforded by a Continental Casualty Company Accident Insurance policy. You will be surprised at the liberal protection a small amount will buy. And you need not feel obligated in asking us for particulars.

ARTISTS GIVE PROGRAM FOR S. A. AUDIENCE

Including a group of the best known artists in the city on its program, the concert which was presented Saturday night by Sons of Veterans, Santa Ana camp No. 12, was received by an appreciative audience.

The number on the program which called forth the most applause was the group of instrumental selections played by the Spurgeon kindergarten band with Miss Maurie Hamill acting as accompanist. Especially good was "Bean Porridge Hot."

Marie Bishop, soprano, and Holmes Bishop, basso-contante, with Ione Tunison Peek accompanying, sang three duets. They sang "Still As the Night," "Summer Night" and "Passage-Bird's Farewell."

Robert Bradford, popular young baritone, gave two groups of songs, the best being "Uncle Rome," by Sydney Homer. He was accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Miss Ruth Oakes, harpist, presented six numbers.

The Hawaiian trio, made up of Pearl Stamp, Minnie Stamp and George Stamp, played a number of the best known island songs.

Two small girls, Jean McKelvy and Katherine Shapiro, gave the final numbers of the evening. The two youngsters are pupils of Ruth Spere's dancing school. Little Miss McKelvy played the part of a Bowerly miss to perfection when she sang "I'm Gonna Dance With the Guy What Brung Me." The song was accompanied by an appropriate dance. Miss Shapiro gave a toe dance, "The Gay Butterfly." They were accompanied at the piano by George Brown.

Atwood Liquor Trial Date Set

The case of G. A. Goss, Atwood, charged with possession of a still for the making of illicit liquor, was set in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today for May 15 at 10 a. m. Bail of $3000 was demanded.

Goss was arrested several days ago by sheriff's officers when a small still and 30 gallons of liquor were found on his place.

Profanity Expert Before S. A. Judge

Justice Kenneth Morrison heard more profane language in his court this morning than he has ever heard before. It came from a defendant and all attempts on Judge Morrison's part to stop the man from talking were useless.

The defendant was Jessie Sanchez, Los Angeles, charged with breach of the peace at the Delhi dance hall last night.

The profanity started when Sanchez started to tell the judge how "it all happened." Translated into English, his girl left him for another dancer and it made him a bit peeved.

He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail and the sentence was suspended and Sanchez fined $5, which he paid.

BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, April 30.—The garage of Del Giorgio on Orange-thorpe caught fire Sunday afternoon, igniting his houses. The fire was extinguished by the Buena Park fire department. The Anaheim department was there but was not needed. A trailer was burned up with the garage. The loss of $500 was covered by insurance.

C. H. Allen, of the Allen Realty Company, who has been confined to his home for several months with rheumatism, left Sunday afternoon for San Juan Capistrano Hot Springs, where he will receive treatments.

S. L. Davis, of Long Beach, and Miss Jennie Nesbit, of Columbus, Ohio, were visitors at the H. H. Hagerty residence from Tuesday to Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Parmateer and son, Donald, of Oakland, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kinney. Mrs. Parmateer is the widow of Mrs. Kinney's uncle, who recently passed away in Fullerton.

C. L. Frazier, local realty man, and son, Clifford, of Glendale, left today on a fishing trip to San Diego county.

The La Sierra company started work today remodeling its building preparatory to the opening of the canning season in June.

Police News

Burglars broke into the home of Dr. J. H. Pullen, 1806 North Broadway, early last night, but left before anything of value was taken, according to a police report. A ladder was used to scale a rear wall leading to the Pullen home and entrance into the house was made through a rear window.

$50,000 SUIT AFTERMATH OF MAN'S ARREST

Fred W. Westerhold, Anaheim, became defendant today in a $50,000 lawsuit in which John P. Martin, Los Angeles, accuses him of malicious prosecution in connection with a charge of grand larceny brought against Martin in 1927.

Martin charged in the complaint today that Westerhold caused his arrest after a warrant had been issued from the justice court here April 1, 1927.

He claims to have been in jail until May 15, when the case against him was dismissed in his favor, according to the complaint.

Westerhold, in bringing the action against Martin last year, is said to have alleged that the latter stole $5000 from him in connection with the formation of a manufacturing concern, which never got into actual operation.

Martin, in a separate suit, asserted today that he had returned the $5000 to Westerhold after the Anaheim man made threats against him. But he reaffirmed his statements that there was nothing crooked about the deal and asked the court to order Westerhold to return the $5000.

ORANGE MAN FINED ON DRIVING CHARGE

Clarence Maag, 21, Orange, was fined $100 in Judge Andrew Wilson's police court at Newport Beach today on a charge of reckless driving.

He was arrested by a Costa Mesa constable, after the officer had received a complaint that Maag's machine had forced another car from the road.

BETTY BRONSON

GIRLHOOD'S GREATEST BEAUTY CHOSEN

Film world says most appealing charm is smooth skin

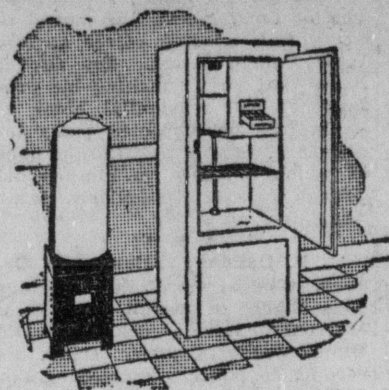

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—Speaking eyes, enticing lips, beautiful hair—all these movie star may have but they avail her nothing, say directors, if she is not possessed of smooth skin. "Studio Skin" must be exquisitely smooth for Klieg lights are all-revealing in the close-ups.

Herbert Brenon, director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, says, "The most appealing single beauty a girl can have is certainly exquisitely lovely skin." And all Hollywood agrees that every actress who has become a star has had skin of exceptional loveliness.

Nine out of ten stars find Lux Toilet Soap is marvellous for smooth skin. Betty Bronson, enchanting young star, enthusiastically declares, "I find this lovely soap is wonderful for my skin."

All the big film studios have placed Lux Toilet Soap in their dressing rooms, which indicates clearly enough how definitely they value smooth skin. Lux Toilet Soap is made by Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

CLASS IN MATRIMONY?

EVANSTON, Ill., April 30—Whoever heard of a Bachelor of Matrimony? And yet there'll probably be such a degree if the plan advocated by Prof. A. J. Todd, of Northwestern university, goes through. Professor Todd's plan is that a department for instruction in matrimony be established at the university. He says that students leave college with no knowledge of matrimony, a subject which will occupy most of their future time and money.

ORANGE MEN PICK OWN SUMMER HATS

ORANGE, April 30—Men of Orange pick their own. Take it from the straw hat dealers here, men of this city may allow their wives to choose their shirts and ties but they take a lot of time and trouble in choosing the new straw.
 May 1st and always has been straw hat day, says one dealer of the city, and May 13 merely has the distinction of being the unlucky day for felts. Few men bring their wives to help choose their summer headgear, the dealer declares. They are mighty particular about the hat of which they are making themselves a present and they want to be alone with the mirror in making the momentous decision, he says.
 Dr. J. E. Riley is credited with appearing on the streets of Orange in the first new straw of the season.

LOS ALAMITOS

LOS ALAMITOS, April 30—Mrs. Thurber Tinkham sprained her wrist one day last week and had to postpone her trip east.
 The Los Alamitos P. T. A. members were hosts to Anaheim high school P. T. A. Thursday night.
 The Los Alamitos Civic club met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bloomquist one day last week. Mrs. Bloomquist presided. Plans were discussed for the beautifying of the town, as soon as the sidewalks and curbs have been completed. The next meeting will be May 16.
 The Ladies' Aid society met Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. Trumbull, of Howard street. The afternoon was spent in sewing and planning for the bazaar to be held in May.

REAL ESTATE MEN ORDERED PAY LICENSES

The arrest of a score or more of Santa Ana real estate men, on charges of operating their business without having procured city licenses, is predicted today by Earl Lentz, city license inspector, who said he had received orders to arrest all agents operating here who had neglected to take out city licenses.

Two arrests already have been made and the defendants fined $10 each in police court. They were W. B. Oliphant, 116 West Santa Clara avenue and Lansing B. Hill, 1212 Maple street. Although both paid their fines in police court, neither have taken out their licenses. Lentz said, and a new warrant for their arrest will be sought within a few days if they do not comply.

Lentz is of the opinion, he said, that at least 20 real estate operators have neglected to procure city licenses, although a majority of these have paid their state licenses for the year.
 Many real estate men who operate in Santa Ana without licenses are here only for a short time, Lentz said. These generally come from Los Angeles with a company selling a subdivision, and although their state licenses are paid, in many cases the city is forgotten, he declared.

WINTERSBURG
WINTERSBURG, April 30—Mrs. Payne, fourth grade teacher, and her group of Campfire Girls presented the program at Oceanview school assembly Friday afternoon. Two songs, "Springtime" and "Rainy Day," were presented by the entire class. Two plays, "I Do Wanna" and "Strains From Old Plantation Days," were given and piano solos were rendered by Elmore DeLavigne and Edith Brush. Preparations for the district track meet, which is to be held next Friday, are under way at the local school. Announcement of the field at which the meet is to be held will be made later. Oceanview, Seal Beach, Westminster and Fountain Valley will compete.
 Thirty pupils of the upper grades of the school are being tutored for the opera, which is to be given May 10 under the supervision of Mrs. J. P. Ranney, music instructor of the Oceanview school. Members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. DeBusk are ill with influenza.

Col. Lindbergh Not Favored By Girls As Husband

BERKELEY, April 30—If Col. Charles A. Lindbergh were to propose to 98 out of 150 co-eds recently questioned at the University of California, he would receive an emphatic "No."

Forty of the co-eds asked to express themselves voiced a willingness to "consider it," while 14 remarked, "This is so sudden, I'll have to have more time."

A few among the group were inclined to favor the flying colonel as a spouse, but generally speaking "Lindy" would have trouble to find a wife on the California campus.

Juror, Attorney Get Fines For Court Tardiness

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30—Judge George M. Bourquin of Montana, who recently held court in San Francisco, believes in making the minutes valuable. He fined Norman A. Eisner, an attorney, $100 for being seven minutes late.
 At a previous court session in San Francisco, Judge Bourquin fined a jurymen $50 because he was five minutes late in making his appearance.
 Eisner took his punishment without a murmur. "I am going to be a good boy from now on," he remarked.

BOYS' WEEK IS OBSERVED BY Y. OF SANTA ANA

Boys' week is being observed at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. By special arrangement of the boys' work committee, headed by J. A. Cranston, the Y gymnasium and swimming pool have been opened for the week to the boys of the two junior high schools on a schedule that is designed to bring every boy in those schools in for at least one or two periods of swimming and physical exercise during the week.

Beginning this morning at 8:30 o'clock, Coach Archer and a group of Willard school boys went in for their first time. They were followed by another group from the school at 9:30 o'clock, and by a group from the Lathrop school at 10:30 o'clock. Willard school boys were in again at 12:40 o'clock and 2:40 o'clock.

The schedule as arranged by Boys' Work Director McKee, in co-operation with the school coaches, provides for 22 special swim and gym periods for the boys during the four days available. This includes not only the junior high school boys, but The Register carrier boys and boys of the detention home.

In all, McKee estimates that about 700 different boys will have the opportunity to use the pool and gymnasium during the week, the estimated total attendance being expected to run about 1200. Besides giving the boys good exercise and adding pleasant variety to their physical education work, it will be possible to give considerable swimming instruction.

Secretary McKee, Physical Director Russick and a special committee including R. H. Silverthorn, W. G. Stauffer and L. R. McMullen, are co-operating with Coach Archer of the Willard junior high school, and Coach Ferris Scott, of the Lathrop junior high, in promoting this week of activity for the boys.

Mrs. E. M. Fox is reported as recovering from the injuries sustained in a recent accident. A cast was placed on the broken limb today and her physician will allow her to be brought home by ambulance Wednesday or Thursday. The double vision, which was brought on by the accident, is gradually fading and the sight will soon be normal again soon, it is believed. Other injuries are healing nicely.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. at the time of the arrest Saturday, jailers said.

After a wife had complained that her husband had beaten her, deputy sheriffs arrested Charles Samuel Donaldson, La Habra man, and turned him over to Chief Bain of La Habra Saturday night. He was removed from the county jail to La Habra by Bain.

When M. F. Clark, 422 Fruit street, caught a youth peeping in the window of his home early last night, he immediately trailed the boy, who was frightened away at the same time Clark saw him, according to a police report. The trail led to the Free Methodist church where the youth entered. Captured later, the boy denied the charges. Police left him with his mother and will turn the case over to juvenile authorities today, they said.

Miss Mabel McFadden, city librarian, reported to police yesterday that boys have a habit of breaking into the library building after it is locked up for the night. A screen over a window at the rear of the building, was found cut.

Jessie Sanchez, 23, Los Angeles, made his first visit to Santa Ana last night and went to the dance at Delhi. His first trip here was rather a boisterous one, according to Constable Jess Elliott, who locked him up on a charge of disturbing the peace. Elliott also

NANCY ELDER RETURNS FROM Y. W. C. A. MEET

Delegates from Australia, China, Japan, Latvia, Chile, Russia and Canada were in attendance at the national Y. W. C. A. convention held last week at Sacramento, according to Miss Nancy Elder, who reviewed the convention briefly in an address made at the weekly meeting of the Wrycende Maegden club of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Elder pointed out that the above named delegates did not include the voting delegates from the association in the United States which include Oriental and Negro groups. Miss Elder and Miss Mabel McFadden, secretary and president of the local branch, represented the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. at the convention.

The speaker stressed the demonstration of "captured" two pints of moonshine liquor near the dance hall last night, but the Mexican who threw them when the officer appeared ran too fast for the constable.

cratic manner in which the business sessions of the convention was conducted, making it possible for any member within the association to express her opinion on any subject brought up for discussion.

The Business girls' assembly of which the local business girls' Wrycende Maegden club is a part held its meetings as a part of the convention program. Commissions from this group reported on the studies that have been made by the various clubs on such subjects as "The Christian Woman in Business," "Advanced Education for Business Women," and "Co-operation with the Girl Reserve and the Industrial Departments of the Association."

A resolution was passed that during the next bi-annual a special study should be made of unemployment conditions that are prevalent both in the industrial and business world and which are of so great importance to woman and girls.

A special study has been made recently of the "History and Trends of Occupations for Business Women" and an interesting report of this study was presented to the assembly.

For the first time the business girls of the associations of this country will have a representative at the meeting of the committee of the World's Y. W. C. A. when it convenes next month in Budapest, Hungary. Miss Elsie West of Summit, New Jersey who has been secretary of the Business Girls' Assembly during the past two years, will represent this younger group. She is employed in the offices of the New York Life Insurance company in New York City.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED IN LA.

An automobile, stolen from C. A. Hargett, 810 Highland avenue, Santa Ana, in Los Angeles Saturday night has been recovered by Los Angeles police, who reported that the machine was used by bandits in two holdups there late Saturday night, before they abandoned it.

Hargett parked his car and was gone from the place only a few minutes, he reported. When he returned his machine was gone.

The car was found last night, abandoned on a deserted street. Two automobiles were reported stolen here over the week end. O. D. Scott, El Toro, reported his machine stolen from a place where he parked it, in the 400 block on West Fifth street, and N. A. Porter, 705 Minter street, reported his machine taken Saturday night from a place where it was parked between Third and Fourth streets on French street.

PLAY TOURNEY WILL BE HELD HERE MAY 17

The Santa Ana Community Players will launch the second annual Southern California tournament of one-act plays on May 17, Mona Summers Smith, general chairman for the event, announced today. The contest will take place at the Temple theater and will run for three nights.

Six Southland cities will send productions to the affair and three others may accept the invitation, she said.

Last year the Whittier group, starring Russell R. Miller, formerly with the Santa Ana Community Players, won the silver cup provided by the clothing merchants of this city. Santa Monica won the second prize, also a silver cup.

Monrovia, Escondido, Riversdale, San Diego, Long Beach and Laguna Beach are the communities which have announced their intention to compete this season.

The tournament last year was the first of its kind ever staged on the Pacific coast, according to Mona Summers Smith, and was such an outstanding success that players from outside cities were eager to return a second time.

"Local persons by the score declared that it was an event which they believed would redound greatly to the benefit of this city, marking it as one of the centers for artistic endeavor and appreciation in Southern California. Other cities have their distinctive events that set them aside as places that are wide awake to the value of distinctive municipal events. We hope the annual drama tournament will do the same thing for Santa Ana.

"The affair last year had an artistic character and possibility distinctly its own and almost unlimited in scope. For such reasons the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies lent strong support to the movement and it is believed they will do so again."

Funeral Services For Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, April 30.—Funeral services for Mrs. R. B. Christensen were held at the Methodist Episcopal church in Garden Grove Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. M. Ocheltres.

Mrs. Christensen was taken to the Artesia hospital a week ago and succumbed to a major operation in a vain attempt to save her life. She passed away Wednesday afternoon at the age of 35 years. Besides her husband, she is survived by four children, Edwin, 13, Ella, May, 11, Robert 8, and Marlan, 5.

Interment was in Fairhaven cemetery.

PACIFIC HUMUS COMPANY WILL SUE OIL FIRMS

B. Z. McKinney, local attorney, announced today that several additional oil companies will be sued by the Pacific Humus company in an attempt to collect $31,000 damages for alleged despoiling of its land by the flow of oil from nearby production centers at Huntington Beach.

The company bringing suit gained a stipulated judgment last Friday against five oil concerns, whereby it will collect several thousand dollars in damages from the Associated Oil company, Union Oil company, Shell Oil company, Chiksan Oil company and General Petroleum corporation. The concerns have agreed to determine among themselves their proportionate share of the amount settled upon, which has not yet been revealed, according to McKinney.

Superior Judge Homer G. Ames issued an injunction ordering the defendant companies to discontinue the alleged practice of allowing oil and other substances to drain onto the plaintiff's land.

The Holly Development company, Holly Oil company, Getty Oil company and White Bear Consolidated Oil company are the firms which will be added to the list of concerns sued by the Pacific Humus company, McKinney said.

SAINTS FINISH EIGHTH IN ALL-SOUTHERN

LOUDSPEAKER BUSY TONIGHT

Jack Sharkey, the Boston Loudspeaker, makes another fistic appearance tonight when he fights Jack Delaney in Madison Square Garden. The two Jacks are discredited in the Tunney tournament yet they both have more color than either the champion or his coming opponent, Heeneey, and a big crowd is expected.

JACK SHARKEY

CHARLEY PADDOCK WILL STAY IN EAST TO CONDITION HIMSELF FOR FINAL OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

NEW YORK, April 30.—Charley Paddock's running days are far from over and the blonde Californian is quite likely to bob up as one of the eight sprinters on the 1928 American Olympic team.

Following his spectacular performance in establishing a new world's record for the 175 yards in the 34th annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival Saturday, Paddock is confident that he can make it third Olympic team.

"I am in great shape and my performance in the 175 yards Saturday convinced me that the Olympic team is my goal," Paddock said.

To concentrate on any effort for winning this Olympic berth, Paddock has announced his intention of forsaking his widely advertised meeting with Charley Borah, the University of Southern California star.

The race between Paddock and Borah was scheduled for next month on the Pacific Coast but Paddock plans to remain in the east to condition himself for the final Olympic tryouts at Boston in July.

Through mud and slush ankle deep, Paddock raced 175 yards in 17 2-5 seconds at the Pennsylvania carnival, surpassing his former world's mark of 17 4-5 seconds made in Salt Lake City last year.

Meanwhile, Borah was doing the 100 yard dash in 9 3-5 seconds in the West Coast relays at Fresno, Calif.

Paddock, at 27, is one of the running marvels of the age. He has been competing for 14 years, having won his first medal at 13. Twice a member of the Olympic team, he cannot be counted out of the competition for the Amsterdam squad until some of the younger group conquer his flying feet.

Dempsey, Estelle May Go On Stage

HOLLYWOOD, April 30.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, and his wife, Estelle Taylor, the screen star, have been offered a contract to appear together on the stage, according to the personal representative of the actress here.

Dempsey would box several rounds in the production, to be staged by David Belasco, it was said.

Sharkey, Delaney Clash In New York

BOUT TO HAVE NO BEARING ON RICKARD PLANS

Two Jacks Both Colorful; Neither Could 'Click' On Their Opportunities

By FRANK GETTY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 30.—The first heavyweight fight of importance since Jack Sharkey was eliminated as a possible contender for the championship taken place at Madison Square Garden tonight when the Bostonian returns to the ring to tackle Jack Delaney of Bridgeport.

Nothing depends on the outcome of the fight, for both Sharkey and Delaney have been stricken from the list of possible opponents for Gene Tunney. Yet there is every indication that the fans will turn out in numbers to watch the two discredited Jacks go through their gestures.

Both Jacks possess more "color" than the men who defeated them and put them out of the elimination tournament last winter. Sharkey exudes it at every pore, while it has been Delaney's forte through a fairly lengthy ring career.

"In-and-outers," both of them, Sharkey and Delaney simply could not seem to make good when their big opportunities came.

Many K. O. Victims Delaney, as a light heavyweight, rose to the top after some exciting battles with Paul Berlenbach. Jack stopped Mike McGuire for the first time in the ancient Celt's career. John Risko of Cleveland, was one of the French-Canadian victims; Jack Renault, Bud Gorman, Bob Fitzsimmons were others.

Yet when Rickard asked Delaney to beat Jimmy Maloney, the Boston fish monger, as a prelude to a possible match with Gene Tunney and certainly to a shot at Jack Dempsey and the real money of the prize ring, the Bridgeport Adonis dogged it and lost the decision. A few weeks later Sharkey knocked Maloney kicking, and it since has been demonstrated that Jimmy was just a set-up for any good heavyweight in the business.

Again, when Delaney had his chance against Heeneey, Jack put up a miserable showing and let the plodding New Zealander take the prize away from him. Sharkey 'Blew' Chance Sharkey, who had held Heeneey to a draw, then went out and blew his chance by losing to Risko, who had been beaten by both Delaney and Heeneey.

It was a queer hodge-podge, the heavyweight line-up of 1927-28, but two of the queerest, most consistently unsatisfactory performers were Sharkey and Delaney. Tonight they meet in what is indeed an elimination contest. The winner is not going anywhere, but the loser will be eliminated beyond trace. Or should be.

Gene Tunney probably is smiling to himself as he contemplates the spectacle of tonight's engagement. Either Sharkey or Delaney, at his best, might have given the heavyweight champion a deal of trouble. Tom Heeneey, the hirsute New Zealander, is not likely to do so.

Which Can Be Worst? A fine burst of speed, boxing and hitting such as Sharkey showed against Dempsey in the first round at Yankee stadium last summer might prove sufficient to upset a Tunney who is not accustomed to serious fisticuffs after a year of idleness.

A terrific right-hand wallop such as Delaney has given evidence at times of possessing might, properly applied, floor the champion for a count so long that even a Chicago referee would reach "ten" in time for the title to change hands.

Sharkey had one thing, Delaney another, but either might have proven destructive in a bout with Tunney. But both principals in tonight's affair threw away their chances, and now they are brought together with nothing at stake.

Seals Cling To Lead In Coast Race

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—The San Francisco Seals held a 3-1-2 game lead in the Pacific Coast league today as the teams entered the fifth week of the season. They divided yesterday's game with Sacramento, losing the first, 12 to 6, but taking the second, 9 to 3. The Seals took four games in the series and the Solons three.

Hollywood, in second place, slipped yesterday when it dropped a pair to Portland, and lost the series as well, 4 to 3.

Oakland beat Los Angeles twice but fell a game short of the series. The Angels won four games to the Acomas three.

Seattle got an even break yesterday and for the week. The Tribe lost the first game to Mission, but won the second. The six games series was divided.

Two of the three undefeated contenders for the Santa Ana Twilight league baseball title will come to grips tomorrow night at Lincoln park.

Already in the none too enviable position of favorite for whom most of the clubs are gunning, the Auto Club of Orange County will give its two-star pitching staff a fling at the City Hall, which has also won its first two games impressively. Earl Jones and Everett Berry, the clubmen, will be pitted against Perry, the Hall's new pitching find.

The third week of competition in the late afternoon circuit was to be begun today with a tussle between the Courthouse and the Arnold Peak market aggregations.

Unbeaten in its first two contests, the Shell Oil meet the Smart and Final Wednesday.

The American Legion Bugle and Drum corps, which forced the Auto Club of Orange County into extra innings before it said "Daddy" faces The Register Thursday in the week's concluding melees.

WALTER WINS ANOTHER GAME

An attack of influenza has been responsible for Walter Johnson's longest absence from the baseball diamond in 20 years, but the veteran pitcher now is ready to return to his job of managing the Newark Bears of the International league. In the picture above Walter is pictured with Mrs. Johnson while convalescing in a Washington hospital. There is a vast difference in his condition over when the lower picture was snapped, a month ago when he arrived in Washington in a wheel-chair en route to a hospital. Secretary Eddie Eynon of the Washington ball club is shaking hands with the stricken diamond hero.

SANTA ANA JUNIOR COLLEGE TIES FOR SECOND WITH 'B' CLASS SCHOOLS AT FRESNO

Competing against virtually all of the minor colleges of the Pacific Coast, Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana junior collegians tied for second in the Class B division of the annual Raisin Day track meet at Fresno Saturday. The Dons scored 16 points to deadlock with Modesto junior college. Occidental won the "B" title with 22 points. College of the Pacific, San Diego State Teachers, Pomona, Whittier and numerous other institutions trailed the locals.

Coach Cook's crack half-mile relay team of "Red" Guyer, Blanchard Beatty, "Pete" Twist and Russell Elmd, provided a dramatic upset when it walked away with victory and individual gold watches for each member of the quartet. Guyer, starting three yards behind, made up the distance and finished two yards to the good. Occidental was second. The relay victory gave the Dons 10 points.

Bob Jacques established a Santa Ana junior college record when he cleared 5 feet, 11 3-4 inches to be second in the Class B high jump. The other local points were furnished by Guyer, who was second in the Class B 100 yard dash, a race that was won by Williams.

John Hernandez and Luther Payne will open the feature preliminary spot, Ellis stated. Three other matches will start the show.

Angels Send Ed Daley To Idaho Team

Ed Daley, well known Santa Ana baseball player, will pursue the diamond vocation in the Utah-Idaho league this summer, it was learned here today.

The promising young outfielder, former captain of the Santa Ana high school nine, was "farmed" to the Pocatello, Ida., team by the Los Angeles club of Pacific Coast league yesterday. Daley has been with the Angels since late February.

Nine other young outfielders, including one other youngster, were sent to Pocatello. They will be under option and the Seraphs may recall them at any time.

COUNTIANS WIN FROM SUPPLIES AND TIE SERIES

Civil warfare between the Republic Supplies of Huntington Beach and the Orange Countians had ended today just like it began at the Fair Grounds two weeks ago—with the teams all square.

Scoring in all but two frames, the Countians defeated the Supplies, 9 to 6, yesterday and evened the series which was called off after the game. The Huntington Beach team will travel to San Diego next Sunday rather than engage in a third and deciding tiff. Lack of patronage was given as the reason for the cancelling of the rubber.

"String" McDonald, former Lincoln, Western league, hurler pitched some good ball for the Countians. He was hit heavily at times but in the pinches the long, lean fellow was pretty tough. He worked himself out a hole in the fourth after filling the bases with none away, a double play started by Layne aiding him, and he helped his own cause along with a home run.

Perry Callahan, Supply outfielder, led all the swatsmiths with four for five although Beeson hit three and so did Layne and Rodriguez of the Countians. The box score:

Minneapolis To Play Hollywood Outfit Tonight

HOLLYWOOD, April 30.—The Minneapolis Millers will have two of their casualties back in the lineup tonight when they meet the Hollywood Millionaires in the fifth game of their series.

Helgy Bostrum and Jim Seaborn, who were on the sidelines Saturday night when Minneapolis lost, 2 to 1, will be back on the ice. However, Mike Goodman, injured last Saturday, will be missing.

Minneapolis may win the series tonight. Three victories are necessary to win and the Millers have two to their credit. Hollywood has only the Saturday night game to its credit. The third contest was a tie.

L. A. HIGH HAS NARROW ESCAPE BUT WINS MEET

Ernie Velarde Takes Third In Two Events; Moffat, Reboin Also Nabs Points

Selma and the California State Interscholastic meet of next Saturday was all that remained today of Santa Ana's fast disappearing 1928 track and field season following the sixteenth annual Southern California classic at the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday in which the Saints disappointed by finishing only eighth, far behind the leaders.

Los Angeles high school won the All-Southern, making 21-5/8 points, but the Romans were hard pressed by the surprising Long Beach Jackrabbits who came through with 100 per cent efficiency to be second with an even 20 points. Glendale was third with 16. Los Angeles Poly, Inglewood, Compton and San Diego all were ahead of Santa Ana.

Ernie Velarde, Alvin Reboin and Captain John Moffat made all of Santa Ana's points and will be the only members of the "Tex" Oliver troupe eligible to enter the state meet.

Velarde Comes Through Velarde, as usual, came through with his finest performances of the season when he went up against this most severe competition. The swarthy little Polyite broke the Southern California interscholastic record in the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet, 5 1/2 inches but it netted him only third place as two other contestants, Barber of Long Beach and Creecy of Jefferson, were in even rarer form. Barber went 23 feet on his first hop and Creecy got away to a jump of 22 feet, 10 inches. Velarde had the satisfaction, however, of trimming his old rival, Frank Wykoff, of Glendale, who could do no better than 22 feet, 1 inch.

Velarde then turned around and ran a beautiful flight of 220-yard low hurdles to be third. From the stands it seemed that the fleet little Saint was second by inches but the judges reversed this opinion and gave the points to Keough, of Pomona. Bills, Long Beach, won the race by four yards in 24-4/5 seconds and Velarde was timed in 25-2/5 seconds, his best mark of the year. Moffat also made his one point in this race, coming in fourth, three yards to Velarde's rear.

Reboin Fourth in Sticks Santa Ana had two entrants in the 120-yard high hurdles, Reboin and Moffat, and Reboin was able to fight his way to a close-up fourth. The sturdy sophomore looks heavy and short to be a high hurdler but he came through with a powerful finish to get the money. Moffat, who ran in beautiful form in the trials a week ago and loomed as a prospective winner, was off form again and went unplaced. He was away to his usual wretched start and though he raced himself into a contending position near the finish he was never quite able to get up.

"Reg" Rust, Poly's husky weight topper also had an off-day and failed to score. The prep shot putters were all in ultra form and Rust hardly figured to figure in that event but none of the discus throwers could get going and the bulky bland went unplaced although 114 feet took fifth. Rust ordinarily is good for 118 or 123 feet any time he starts.

The competition proved too keen for the other Santa Anans. Tommy Cone and Jos. Warner ran strongly and courageously in the 880 and the 440, respectively, but were never able to be near the front so fast were their races. The 880 and the 440, respectively, but quarter in 43-4/5, times that would be a credit to any college runner.

Jacques, Beatty Sixth

Arthur Jacques tied for sixth in the high jump, clearing 5 feet, 9 inches, and Mel Beatty was sixth in the javelin, but they were both just out of "the money."

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

The question of whether the Olympic Games are worth while—whether they do not hamper rather than help international amity—has been raised in Great Britain.

Differences of opinion arising between nations over amateur rulings, introduction of sectional sports, and intranational strife over control of the competing athletes are cited as reasons for a withdrawal from the Olympics on the part of the British.

"The British nation, intensely interested in sport, is vastly uninterested in the Olympic games," says the Daily Express editorially. A little more success in winning points at the modern Olympiads might butter the Britons' bread more to their taste. It is inevitable that the monotonous regularity of American victories should cause lack of interest in Great Britain.

Yet the British have nothing to complain of in the performances of their runners at Paris in 1924, for Abrahams won the 100 metres, Liddell the 400 and Lowe the 800, a record which aroused envy among Americans who could win but one first place in an individual running event on the flat.

Britains, devoted to tennis, also have lost interest in the Davis cup competition, because they no longer are certain of a place in the challenge round. Success is quite a tonic.

It is possible that the British are right, however, about the Olympic games being none too beneficial for international amity.

One can go right back to antiquity and find that such has been the case. The Greek cities used to war about the first Olympiads, the amateur rules were just as strictly drawn and plially applied as today, and the boys of the A. A. U. who like to wear the tall hats and badges and pose at the head of the parade had their prototypes in ancient Hellas.

The qualifications of a contender in the original Olympic games of the seventh and eighth centuries before Christ were insisted upon rigidly.

A month before the games were to begin all competitors, men, boys and horses, presented themselves at Elis where they demonstrated to the Hellenodice their right to participate. The Hellenodice were judges, elected for the term of a single Olympiad, who had taken sacred oaths and spent ten months preparing themselves for the tasks.

The candidate had to be Greek and free-born, a citizen and religious. He also had to be reasonably well fixed for spot cash money, because training and travel as well as gifts to the gods were costly in those ancient days.

The prospective contestants testified to the Hellenodice that they had been in training for ten months, and then proceeded to spend another month in even stricter dieting and exercise.

Those who are inclined to deplore the modern tendency to glorify a successful athlete out of all due proportion need not deceive themselves that such has not always been the custom. The "Red Grange sweaters" and "Babe Ruth chewing gum" are not the products of twentieth century invention. They were known in 700 B. C. The Olympionikes, as the victors then were known, were showered with every conceivable honor and opportunity for living in luxury ever after.

Rosecoe Bradbury vaulted 11 feet, 6 inches for a new Don record but went unplaced. Spencer

Stewart competed in the javelin, Beatty and Twist in the hurdles, and a team composed of Mark Martin, Edwin Settle, Hind and Twist in the four-man, mile relay.

SANDWICH, England, April 30.—I consider Abe Mitchell, the veteran British professional, and Archie Compston, who conquered Walter Hagen at Moorpark, the two best in the British Open golf championship, which starts here next Monday.

It may be that some one of the Americans who are at Sandwich will win the title, but the chances are less than during the past two years, when we had Bobby Jones to show the way.

Tommy Armour, our National champion, is playing wonderful golf and hitting them a mile. He will need to, for the course here is extremely long.

Bill Mehlhorn also has been going strong and Hagen will show us today what he can do with the championship fairways and greens. Jim Barnes has not been playing well in practice but he is getting better each day and there always is a chance that he may repeat his 1925 triumph.

The weather here has been poor for golf—rainy and windy.

There are two courses for the qualifying rounds—the Royal St. George and the Prince. I am paired with Bill Mehlhorn for the first round on Monday over the former course. The next day we play Princes.

There is a young Argentine golfer here who should do well. His name is Jurado. While he is light and small, he gets remarkable power into his shots.

Women Exceed Men In Russia

MOSCOW, April 30.—There are 5,000,000 more women than men in the Soviet union, a study of the last census in 1926, shows. For every 1000 men there are 1069 women.

In 1897, in the territory now comprising the Soviet union, the excess of women over men was only about 500,000.

The census also showed that there are 182 different races in the Soviet union, speaking 143 languages or dialects. The numerically strongest races are: Russians, 52.3 per cent; Ukrainians, 21.2 per cent; White Russians, 3.2 per cent; Uzbeks, 2.8 per cent; Jews, 1.8 per cent; Georgians, 1.2 per cent.

Announcing the NEW CONVERTIBLE SPORT CABRIOLET

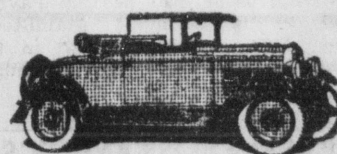

AGAIN, Chevrolet introduces into the low-price field an entirely new conception of style, distinction and elegance—

—a new Convertible Sport Cabriolet with body by Fisher—a vivid, dashing, two-four passenger model that offers the practical comfort and convenience of the Sport Coupe, plus the smartness and distinction of the Sport Roadster... for the top is fully collapsible and may be lowered completely at will!

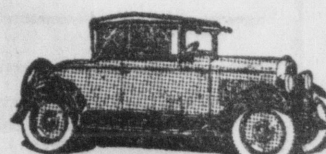

Finished in Romany Red Duco, with black body beading striped in gold... and embellished with artistic touches of gleaming polished nickel—this distinguished new model is one of the most attractive cars to be seen on the highways.

But equally impressive is the wide, practical utility of this latest Chevrolet achievement—a snug closed car for inclement weather... an open car for the warm days of summer... and ample room for two or four passengers, as the necessity may be!

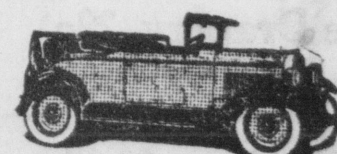

And, of course, there is all the proved mechanical soundness, all the spirited, thrilling performance and all the staunchness of construction that have made Chevrolet the world's most luxurious low-priced automobile.

With the top completely lowered and the windows raised, the Convertible Sport Cabriolet offers all the conveniences of the open Sport car—plus protection from the wind on all sides... adding immeasurably to the comfort of driving.

The illustration above shows the Convertible Sport Cabriolet as a beautiful snug Sport Coupe—ideal for inclement weather of any sort. Thus it is immediately adaptable to all purposes and every condition of weather.

The Convertible Sport Cabriolet may easily be turned into a distinctive open Sport car, as illustrated above. With the top and windows completely lowered, it is one of the smartest Sport cars to be seen on the streets and highways.

Everywhere, You Hear About the Remarkable Mileage Being Obtained by Car Owners With "Stage Line Built"

SAMSON TIRES

Balloon High Pressure Stage and Truck

Ever notice that anywhere you hear tires being discussed, sooner or later the conversation turns to Samsons, and the remarkable mileages they are making in the hands of owners—mileages so much greater than those made by other tires that they stand out in a class by themselves and arouse comment and admiration on every hand?

There can be only one reason for such universal expression of this kind; and that reason lies in the stage line construction which Samson alone builds into its tires—and at a price no higher than that of ordinary cords.

Obviously, beautiful, comfortable passenger car tires built of the same heavy, rugged construction that is put into the great stage line tires to undergo the grueling service of these massive busses, would give thousands of miles more service than tires built along ordinary lines.

Samson alone builds this unusual construction into its tires and that's why the remarkable Samson mileages are always the subject of comment wherever tire mileage is discussed.

You can get this same remarkable trouble-free mileage and cut your tire costs exactly as thousands of other motorists have done by putting on Samson Cords and getting stage line wear in passenger car tires.

Between dances there

MOST people know this absolute antidote for pain, but are you careful to say Bayer when you buy it? And do you always give a glance to see Bayer on the box—and the word genuine printed in red? It isn't the genuine Bayer Aspirin without it! A drugstore always has Bayer, with the proven directions tucked in every box:

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacetylacetic acid of Salicylic acid will be vaudeville acts from the West Coast-Walker theater. Those assisting Mr. Mull on his committee are Robert M. Daniels, George R. Boyd, Theodore W. Cooke, Eugene L. Heiss and Dennis J. Keen. They have requested that all members send in their reservations as soon as possible.

Next Monday evening, April 30, the third degree will be conferred on three candidates, according to announcement from Lloyd E. Roach, Master of Jubilee Lodge. The lodge will be opened in the afternoon and a portion of the work conferred at that time, the evening session starting at 7:30 o'clock.

CITY TO CLEAR WEEDS OUT OF VACANT LOTS

Tomorrow city authorities will start its campaign to clear vacant lots in the city of weeds and place such properties in better condition. The work at the same time will eliminate the fire hazard resulting from dry weeds on vacant lots.

With this work added the effective work done during the recent cleanup and paint up campaign directed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the city this summer should present a neat and tidy appearance, in the opinion of City Manager E. B. Collier.

Direction of the program starting tomorrow will be in the hands of Clyde Jenken, city engineer, and the field work will be in charge of Gene Heiss, inspector.

Lots where weeds have been growing have been posted, and this notice to the lot owners gives the city legal right to enter the premises and do what ever work is necessary to place the lots in good condition.

The cleaning will be done mostly by contract, according to the city manager, who pointed out that this is the most satisfactory method for handling the job.

Prices, it is expected, will vary according to the condition of individual lots. The average cost, it is expected, will be around $5 per lot, with the charges being higher where there is an extra heavy growth of weeds.

The plan is to group lots requiring about the same amount of work and passing a number out on contract. Contract work will probably be done by eight or ten different persons, and it is believed that every unsightly lot in the city can be cleaned within the month of May.

The corps voted to present the newly organized corps at Costa Mesa with a flag.

Two members were taken into the organization, one by initiation and one by reinstatement.

Harrell and his daughter; short talks by Comrade Harding, father of the late president, and by Post Commander Cleveland, solo by Nada Smith, and cornet solo by Gilbert Harrell accompanied at the piano by Miss Cochem. The program closed with community singing led by Mrs. Chapman.

ANAHEIM BOYS IN CHARGE OF CITY OFFICES

ANAHEIM, April 30.—One of the most complete political "upsets" ever witnessed here occurred in Anaheim this afternoon, when 14 Anaheim union high school boys were installed into the principal civic offices.

The installation ceremonies were held at a special assembly in the school auditorium and they marked the opening of Boys' week in Anaheim. "Retiring" Mayor L. E. Miller, assisted by members of the "retiring" city council and other civic leaders, had charge of the installation ceremonies.

Tommy Kuchel, president of the student body of the high school and winner of the recent Orange county preliminary of the national oratorical contest, was installed as mayor and his fellow boy councilmen are Jack Dutton, Herald Hytton, Arval Morris and Lloyd Rutledge.

The boy officers were selected at a spirited election held Friday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Kuchel, defeating his only opponent, Floyd Lakeman, by a margin of 75 votes, polling 143 of 210 votes cast.

Lakeman led the Junior Lions club "ticket" in the contest and Kuchel the straight high school "ticket."

Defeated candidates for the council were Joe Bushard, Jack Brown, Roderick Brastad, George Daws, John Eley, Dick Lush, Flual Morris and John Shoemaker. Hytton was elected as police judge, defeating Vernon Rockwell by one vote, but elected to be councilman and Rockwell was declared police judge.

Albert Kluthe was elected chief of police, defeating Jack Dutton; Kenneth Clapp, fire chief, defeating Paul Bruce; Vernon Rockwell, police chief, defeating Lawrence Myers; Walter Taylor, president of the Rotary club, defeating Donald Baum and E. Borchert; George Blewitt, president Kiwanis club, defeating Clay Brington and Walter Taylor; Warren Jewell, president Lions, defeating Gilbert Kuchel; Marvin Walton, city treasurer, defeating Vern Backs and Charles Tremblay and John Shoemaker, was named Y.M.C.A. secretary without opposition.

RECORD SUMMER SEASON IS PREDICTED FOR NEWPORT BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HEAD

NEWPORT BEACH, April 30.—A record summer season was predicted here today by Charles H. Way, president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. Excursion rates which have just been placed in effect by the Pacific Electric and increased automobile traffic over the coast highway are the two factors which Way believes will bring more people to the Newport harbor district than ever before.

Effort of new rates which have been placed in effect by the Pacific Electric company is already evident, according to Way, who points out that travel over the electric line is increasing. The Newport Beach and Balboa districts are benefiting from the advertising given in the schedule cards issued by the Pacific Electric company, he said.

The railway company has inaugurated a special circle tour of the beach towns for $1. The trip includes visits at Santa Monica, Venice, Redondo, Long Beach, Seal Beach, Huntington Beach, Newport Beach and Balboa and return to Los Angeles. Another special trip for the same price has been arranged by the company from Owensmouth to Balboa. These two special excursions are expected by Way to bring many visitors to the harbor district.

Opening of a subway beneath the Santa Fe railway tracks at Serra and the opening of the coast highway from Serra to Long Beach will bring thousands of visitors along the coast and into Newport Beach, he believes.

Efforts to interest travelers in the harbor district will be made by the establishment of a branch office of the chamber of commerce on the coast highway, it was reported today. The branch headquarters of the chamber may be located in an office to be erected by the developers of Lido Isle.

The developers of the island will have boats available to take visitors over the harbor and will in other ways strive to bring attention to the district.

NEW CROSSING FOR TELEPHONE CABLE

NEWPORT BEACH, April 30.—Plans for a new crossing for the telephone cable planned for Newport harbor were revealed today. The crossing will be made at Ninth street, the cable stretching to the eastern end of Lido island and then across to the mainland.

It was originally planned to place the cable at the western end of the state highway bridge across the upper bay channel.

The new line has been approved by the harbor committee of 15 Newport citizens, it was reported today. The change in location was made after it became known that a 15-year franchise could not be granted to the telephone company by the city if the cable was placed in the location first decided upon.

NEW VALENCIA SEASON UNDER WAY IN COUNTY

ANAHEIM, April 30.—With two Anaheim packing houses now shipping several cars of fruit per day and other local distributing agencies rounding up plans for an early renewal of operations, the new Anaheim valencia season promises to be in full swing soon. Favorable conditions in the eastern markets, with prices apparently on the upgrade and the load of northern California navel and winter valencias rapidly being disposed of, combined with the good quality and good average sizes of the new crop of summer fruit, point to a successful season ahead, local distributors declare.

The only "fly in the ointment" is the extremely short crop expected, a condition that is expected to be offset, however, by higher prices and good demand, local managers stated this morning.

The Anaheim house of the Olive Fruit company has been shipping on the average of three cars per day of valencias for some time, a total of 25 cars having already been placed on the rails for northern markets for export trade, Manager W. W. Miller reports. Miller stated that the average will probably not be exceeded until after the middle of next month, depending upon eastern market conditions.

The Anaheim Citrus association resumed operations this morning expecting to put its first three cars of the new crop valencias on the rails before night, Manager W. H. Schureman announced this morning.

The fruit is of good quality and the sizes are a little better than at this time last year, he said.

The Anaheim Orange and Lemon association has not gotten underway as yet and is still uncertain as to just when operations will be begun. Shipping from the Anaheim Co-operative Orange association and the Ritchie-Mills company plants is not expected to begin until after the first of next month.

Mrs. E. H. Brunemeier and daughters, Beth and Lois, spent Saturday in South Pasadena, attending a missionary meeting.

Mrs. Ethel Charlton and two children were guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tuftree at their cottage in Sunset Beach.

RE-ELECT OFFICERS OF WELFARE BOARD

ORANGE, April 30.—Officers of the Welfare board were re-elected at the recent meeting of the board here. They are as follows: President, George C. Sherwood; vice president, C. E. Morrow; secretary, Mrs. H. O. Ehlen; treasurer, A. D. Burkett.

The board of directors is composed of one representative from each organization of the city.

Following a dinner in the American Legion hall, served by the Legion auxiliary, the board heard a report of the activities of the welfare store, which was in charge of women of the Trinity Episcopal church during the month of April. A sewing bee was held by this organization, at which time 29 members spent the day in remodeling garments for sale in the store.

In the month of May the women of the Baptist church will have charge of the store the first and third weeks of the month and the second and fourth months it will be in charge of individuals. Mrs. F. L. Chapline was appointed general manager of the store recently.

Miss Edna Watson acted as secretary of the board in the absence of Mrs. H. O. Ehlen.

Artistic Color Motif Adds Its Charm to Dinner Party

Choosing a color harmony of the various shades of violet, Mrs. F. C. Hutchison of Brea, presented a most attractive dinner party late last week, as a compliment to Miss Opal Brownlow of 1309 Maple street, Santa Ana, who was celebrating her birthday.

Guests were from this city, Pasadena, Los Angeles and other Southland communities, and were a score in number. They found an attractively appointed dinner table, centered with a low bowl of violets from which graceful ferns trailed across the snowy linen. Tall orchid tapers tied with tulle in the same shade, provided a soft light, and little clusters of violets hid orchid and silver candles. At the close of the delicious course dinner, Mrs. Hutchison placed a beautiful cake gleaming with nineteen violet candles, before her honor guest.

Bridge was played during the evening, and a silver bud vase, small gold compact and other dainty gifts were awarded holders of special scores. Miss Brownlow was showered with other lovely things in honor of her birthday.

Bridge Club

Mrs. Amanda Holmes and Mrs. Elton Roehm were hostesses Friday afternoon to members of the Santa Ana O. E. S. bridge club who gathered at Mrs. Roehm's home in Tustin for their semi-monthly card game.

Sweet peas and roses were used as decorations throughout the home and later served as appropriate floral adornments when refreshments were served.

High scores were held by Mrs. Ray Wycoff while Mrs. A. W. Getchall was second and Mrs. William J. Dean was low. Each received an appropriate prize.

Tales of Far Travels Written to Family In This City

Bearing postmarks of Batavia, Singapore, Yokohama, and other fancy-provoking names of far places of the world, come the letters to Mrs. Cecil Marks (Claire Sharpless) from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, who are enjoying a round the world cruise which will eventually lead them to Paris and an extended visit there with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Lillienfeld, Mr. Lillienfeld was formerly Miss Ada Mae Sharpless.

In a recent letter written from Java, Mrs. Sharpless declared that the famous Dutch possession exceeded anything they had yet seen, in point of tropical beauty and general interest. From their first glimpse as they drove from the steamer after landing they found it delightful. "Wide beautiful streets with a canal down the center, and a riot of palms, banana trees and other tropical growths of the most vivid glowing green. Every inch is covered with grass except the doorways of the native houses, nestled, half hidden among the trees. The earth is a brick red, and most of the houses are roofed with red tiles softened by a blackish moss with the red showing through."

Quaint Customs
The letter continues with vivid descriptions of street and village scenes. "Natives along the banks of the canal, were doing the laundry. I think all the city's laundry must be done right there as the natives themselves wear so little clothing that their laundry is a small matter. A Javanese woman steps down into the canal and washes herself and her sarong (a piece of batik cloth about two and a half yards long) at the same time. She then allows the sarong to dry on her or else ties on a dry one as she steps from the water."

Java is the most densely populated country on the globe, with 35 millions on an island smaller than California. It has been under Dutch rule for over 300 years, which accounts for the delightful cleanliness.

"We spent the forenoon in Batavia, then booked for a 300 mile trip into the interior to see a prehistoric temple, Borobudur. The unspeakably beautiful tropical scenery, the Dutch cleanliness and thrift and the picturesque native activities, kept us thrilled every minute. We didn't see a dozen Dutchmen throughout the trip, but we knew their organization was back of everything. The rice fields in the lower country, looked like broad green rivers. As we climbed into the higher country, the landscape was very rough and the railroad crossed canyon after canyon on high trestles, and curved around high peaks where the view made us speechless."

Native Flora
"Rice covered the valley below us, and terraced paddies climbed the mountainside. Every slope not entirely perpendicular, was terraced too steep for rice, was over to the next one below. Every spot that was steep for rice, was overgrown with tall palms, bananas and tropical fruit trees. As we went higher we passed through tea-wood and rubber forests, and great clumps of bamboo growing in every odd corner. Native houses are of woven split bamboo, and a law requires the planting of bamboo every time any is cut down."

Borobudur is an immense monument built around a hill. It is supposed to be 1000 years old, but there are no records extant concerning it. It is a Buddhist monument, and there have been no Buddhists in Java for hundreds of years. They judge the age by comparing it with similar buildings elsewhere. There are miles of stone carving in bas-relief all in good preservation, but it was so hot there that we couldn't spend much time studying the carvings, but continued to Djokjakarta through the most interesting native life imaginable.

The road was thronged with natives carrying astonishing loads, bullock carts with each bullock having a unique hand-wrought brass bell attached to his harness, funny little carriages drawn by ponies no larger than Shetlands, and brown, naked children everywhere.

"We left Djokjakarta at 6 o'clock a. m. and returned to Batavia to find the steamer ready to go, as they had to cross the bar at high tide. There were but 60 of us in the cross-country trip so we were greeted by shouts of welcome and 'hurry-hurry-hurry!' as we drove up to the dock. The steamer sailed at once."

Johnson Home Opened To Close Friends For Wedding

When Mrs. Lena Peebles of Osceola, Iowa, and Long Beach, and James Davidson of Kansas City, took Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson of this city, into their confidence regarding wedding plans, Mrs. Johnson immediately began making friendly plans of her own. These worked out to such good purpose, that when the happy couple arrived in this city last Friday, expecting to have a very simple ceremony at a parsonage, they found instead, a veritable bower of blossoms at the home of their hosts, 421 South Broadway, and everything in readiness for a charming home ceremony.

The services of the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, were requested, and an impressive ceremony was held at high noon. Mrs. Peebles wore a smart costume of orchid taffeta with dress accessories in water-lily shades.

A wedding luncheon was served before their departure for a Southland wedding trip. Guests at the wedding included in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. E. Webster, Mrs. Erma Palmer and son Raymond, of Long Beach.

The new Mrs. Davidson has been a frequent visitor in Santa Ana and many friends will be interested in her marriage. Mr. Davidson is a retired business man of Kansas City. After a year of travel, the happy couple will make a permanent home in the Southland.

Birthday Celebration Is Staged at Beach Cottage

An unusually happy celebration of a birthday was that of Mrs. Alice C. Turner, who yesterday shared her natal day with members of her family and a few close friends. Instead of greeting the guests in her home at 108 East Eleventh street, Mrs. Turner planned a party at her beach cottage, where a delicious dinner was given.

Roast turkey was one of the items of the inviting menu, and Los Angeles relatives added a wonderful birthday cake as well as flowers to grace the feast.

Those who aided Mrs. Turner in celebrating the day, were her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. T. Jackson of Los Angeles, who was her houseguest, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Inch, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Martin, Mrs. Elva Brown and two daughters, Marian and Ruth, all of Los Angeles.

Keeping the kitchen sink respectable

There's an easier way to achieve a reputation as an immaculate housekeeper than by hours of scrubbing.

Kitchen drainpipe I have yet to see it! Pour boiling water down the drainpipe, follow with a cupful of Clorox, and in a few minutes more water. The pipes will be as clear as a bell. You've not only cleared them of "muck" but you've cleared them of all germs and odors, too. This applies to bathroom bowls as well.

The dish rag too
Dish rags are horrid things at best. But kept white with Clorox they will be as fresh as a handkerchief. Just soak your dish rags in the same solution you make to wash your drainpipe. They will be white and really clean—for Clorox disinfects and deodorizes as well as bleaches.

To clean tile
Speaking of drainboards, Mrs. H. B. D. of St. Louis has asked me whether she can use Clorox on her tiled drainboard. By all means. Follow the directions on the Clorox label—all spots and stains will disappear.

Those discouraging drainpipes

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Somewhere simply must come to the defense of the poor Prince of Wales. This public declaration springs from just gazing upon his most recent picture. The picture shows the bonny prince leaving the race track after a spill from his horse. He looks most crestfallen and a hooting, snickering audience is tagging at his heels.

I dare wager with anyone that the prince takes no more spills, and probably a good many less, than the average horseman. The whole point is that whenever a prince falls down on his beam or any vulnerable anatomical portion, it's news. When other horsemen blister their anything, it's not.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES
Husbands and wives in the same profession or job seem on the increase. Several things explain this. The obvious explanation is that since propinquity is the basis of most marriages, the man and woman naturally meet in their place of common employment and are, therefore, engaged in the same work. The second reason is congeniality evidenced by the same job.

Anyway, we have Phillip and Jeanette Gibbs, Bernard and Dora Russell, Charles and Kathleen Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, Will and Inez Irwin, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, Alma Gluck and Zimbalist; Gallucel and Homer Samuels; oh, what's the use of going into this? Point's proven. It didn't need to be so, merely because ladies didn't have jobs.

"There is no more worthy profession than that of housekeeping, but I haven't spent five years in college just to be a housekeeper."

This statement from an attractive and bright miss who will be the only woman graduate from the law school of Louisiana State University in June, will be a scarlet flag, as per usual, to the homelife sisterhood. For nothing so infuriates them as the intimation that housekeeping is okay for the uneducated, but all wrong and wasteful for our bright college girls. They will remind Miss Sweet Girl graduate that "housekeeping" is the least part of the job of marriage, and that she'll have no difficulty at all in applying all she knows to "the God-given job of marriage."

They'll be right, of course—theoretically. But Miss S. G. G. is right, too, practically, for in the average marriage the practical housekeeping phase so absorbs all time and energy that there is little time or energy left for the application of her college course.

At bowling all the Tynmites had sure presented funny sights, but 'course it all was new to them so they were not to blame. They knew they had a lot to learn when each had finished with his turn, so Scouty, to the two dwarfs said, "We'll watch you bowl a game."

"All right," one of the dwarfs replied, "You Tynmites just stand aside, while we two have a contest just to see who bowls the best." So on the ground the whole bunch sat and Clowny waved his little hat, and shortly, in his cheering, he was joined by all the rest.

The bowling balls crashed here and there, and pins flew high up in the air. Of course this made a lot of noise which echoed all around. Poor Clowny held his ears, and said, "Oh, gee! That seems to shake my head. I wish that bowling was a game that didn't make a sound."

But, both the dwarfs kept at their fun. They'd grab a ball, and then they'd run. "I'm sorry," shouted one of them, "If this queer game annoys. But you can surely realize that everyone needs exercise. This is the way we get it. Bowling's one of our real joys."

Just then somebody yelled, "Hey! Hey! You dwarfs will have to stop your play. You're ruining my garden 'cause you shake the country 'round. It seems to me you ought to know that I can't make my flowers grow. The noise you're making scares them and they stay down in the ground."

The Tynmites jumped and looked around. A man came running o'er

EAT THE THEATRE

WEST COAST-WALKER

Richard Dix is supported by a cast of well known players in his latest farce comedy, "Easy Come, Easy Go," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theatre.

With Nancy Carroll, the youthful star who made such a hit in Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose," as his leading woman, Dix offers a lively, laugh-provoking characterization of a young man unwittingly made the accomplice of an accomplished crook.

Charles Sellon, whose screen career has been a series of clever supporting parts, has the important role of Jim Bailey, the veteran crook, with whom Dix becomes involved. The part calls for an unusual amount of fine acting in the humorous twists which the situations demand.

The romance motive in the picture develops early and continues throughout the various sequences. Arnold Kent, therefore, as the third member of the love triangle, is much in evidence and very effective.

The plot is entirely comedy with a wealth of action and comedy situations happening in natural sequence. This latest Dix picture, "Easy Come, Easy Go," is a companion piece to Dix's recent successful comedy, "Sporting Goods," and is the second Dix picture this year.

YOST BROADWAY THEATRE
Richard Barthelmess gave the most amazing performance of his career in "The Patent Leather Kid," great story of the tank corps, which opened last night at the Broadway theatre.

Only an artist of consummate skill could sympathetically portray the East Side boxer who is drafted into the war, enters it hating his country because of this, and who proves a real hero when he is once under fire.

In choosing an actor to play The Kid it was necessary to find a man who was an athlete and could box, and at the same time one who was a finished actor, capable of creating sympathy for a character who during the greater part of the picture appears almost a cad and a coward.

Barthelmess was a happy selection for the role, for he again demonstrates that he is one of the great actors of the screen, and his portrayal of The Kid is one of the finest bits of screen acting that has ever been recorded on celluloid.

BRAIN SOUNDS TRANSMITTED BY INVENTION

IOWA CITY, April 30.—Another proverbial achievement, hitherto illusory, has yielded to the attack of science—you can now hear yourself think!

Tiny sounds of the brain at work, sending nerve currents coursing over their pathways in the human body were transmitted through the air for the first time recently from WSUI, radio station of the University of Iowa.

Delicate apparatus, far more sensitive than any before perfected, picked up the infinitesimal sounds, magnified them 900,000 times, and projected them into the radio microphone, where they were transmitted as a light, rumbling sound.

The event culminates three years of research by University of Iowa technicians. Perfection of the apparatus was the work of Dr. Lee Travis, nationally known psychiatrist and psychologist, and Theodore Hunter, technician. They developed the set in their laboratory at the University of Iowa hospitals.

In the test, a three stage resistance coupled amplifier, a portable three element oscillograph, a vacuum oscillator and a signal current were used.

Developed for use in the study of stuttering, the apparatus has been found to have many uses, chief among which is the determination of intelligence and the recording of emotions.

By being able to gauge the speed of nerve impulses as they course through the human body, the apparatus has shown that there is a direct correlation between the intelligence of the individual and the speed of the nerve impulse. A check of results of intelligence tests given to university students and the speed of their nerve impulse, as revealed in the reaction to the knee jerk, shows that the nerve current of an unusually bright individual reacts in 11/1000 of a second.

The person of average intelligence reacts in about 18/1000 of a second and a person of dull intellect reacts in about 27/1000 of a second.

The instruments may have a practical value as an aid in the detection of criminals, since emotions of fear, excitement and anger show in the speed and nature of the nerve impulses. Thus the more modern judge and jury may be equipped with headphones, listening for changes in the suspected person's nerve currents to determine his guilt or innocence.

HAIR STOPS WEDDING
TOLEDO, O., April 28.—There was no mistaking Walter Stearns when he walked into the marriage license office here with the girl of his choice. "You're Walter Stearns of Allegan, Mich., aren't you?" said the clerk. "Well, I'm sorry, but your red hair has spoiled the elopement." Walter's parents had warned the office to be on the lookout for the youth because he was only 19 and they did not approve of the match.

WHEAT, CORN REACH NEW RECORD HIGHS

CHICAGO, April 30.—Phenomenal advances of wheat and corn to new high prices for the season turned today's session of the board of trade into one of the most frenzied days of buying the grain pits ever have seen.

Continued drought in western winter wheat fields and prospects of an alarming abandonment of the crop brought on the scramble of buying.

Wheat futures gained 3 to 3-3/8 cents over Saturday's close, May wheat reaching its highest price of the year at 77 1/2. A late hour slump brought it down to 170.

Corn made a spectacular spurt just before the close and finished 4 to 4 1/2 cents higher.

Resolution Asking Report On Wheat Rates Is Adopted

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Walsh resolution, directing the interstate commerce commission to report what freight rate advantages Canadian wheat growers have over U. S. wheat growers in shipping their products to eastern ports was adopted today by the senate.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Walsh, of Montana, will require the commission to report what the freight rates on wheat from North Dakota and Montana points to Duluth, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore and what the Canadian rates are from West Canadian points to Fort William and Montreal.

Block Proposal Asking Report On Farm Loan Banks

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Action on a resolution by Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, calling upon Secretary of Treasury Mellon to report immediately on the condition of federal farm loan banks was blocked in the senate today.

Blease charged that Mellon deliberately is withholding the annual report until after the adjournment of congress to prevent an investigation. He said investigation of the farm loan system would disclose a "national scandal."

THREE LOSE LIVES IN PLANE CRACKUP

EUREKA, Calif., April 30.—Three men were dead today because one believed an airplane dive would cure him of deafness.

Willard Wenzel, 45; Lawrence Carr Batty, 22, and William Spalletta, 27, pilot, were instantly killed when a wing of the dropping plane crumpled at an altitude of 1200 feet and the ship crashed.

Wenzel, a musician and composer, feared loss of his talent through deafness and induced Spalletta to make the flight. Batty, musician friend of Wenzel, accompanied him. At 4000 feet Spalletta went down in a nose dive. After 2800 feet he flattened out and spectators saw the left wing crack off and drop. The ship crashed with a terrific explosion.

Wenzel is survived by a wife. Spalletta's father, John Spalletta, and Batty's father, Frank Batty, live in San Francisco.

Brother Of Film Stars Loses Race And Lands In Jail

HOLLYWOOD, April 30.—Jack O'Neil, 24, brother of Sally O'Neil and Molly O'Neil, the screen stars, got his trousers entangled in an iron picket fence and that's the reason he is in jail today.

O'Neil, sought for several days on a battery warrant, showed a clean pair of heels to police officers who attempted to trap him in his apartment late last night.

He was fast outdistancing the heavy-footed law and was set for an alley vanishing act when he misjudged the height of an iron fence. His trousers held him to a picket while officers caught up and placed him under arrest.

O'Neil, according to the complaint against him, was one of the participants in a free-for-all fight in a Hollywood café several nights ago. In that battle, Robert Scott, a waiter, was injured severely when he was struck over the head with a soda bottle.

LAFAYETTE LOVELINESS

NEA Paris Bureau
Loveliest of the lovely was Andree Lafayette, great-granddaughter of the young French nobleman who fought with the colonies during the Revolution, at the benefit millinery show Parisian stage stars recently staged. The spring bonnet she wore was of her own making.

WASHINGTON—What happens when a bill is introduced in congress?

Plenty! All sorts of sieves await it and if it can get itself vetoed—this being called a pocket veto. If it is formally vetoed it goes back to congress with a message stating the presidential objections. If signed, the state law and puts it in the state archives.

Policeman Shoots
Wife, Slays Her
Ex-Husband, Self
LOS ANGELES, April 30.—Angered because his wife suggested he eat in the kitchen while she fed her former husband in the dining room, Harvey Simms, a police sergeant, shot and killed the ex-husband, wounded his wife and then committed suicide last night.

The gun play took place in the Simms home when Mrs. Nettie Schroeder Simms invited Henry Schroeder and their two daughters to dinner.

Simms, learning he must eat in the kitchen, drew his police revolver and fired first at his wife and then at Schroeder.

Mrs. Simms was wounded in the left breast. She will recover. The first bullet directed at Schroeder took effect in the heart. He died instantly. A minute later Simms sent two bullets through his own brain.

Mrs. Simms said the police officer had been drinking heavily.

No one was struck by bullets except Miss Eggleston. Most of the shots lodged in the walls of the theater lobby.

All of the men appeared to be between 25 and 28 years old. They rode in a motor car with a New York license.

EVENING SALUTATION

Oh! heart of mine, we shouldn't worry so!
What we have missed of calm, we couldn't have,
you know!
What we have met of stormy pain,
And of sorrow's driving rain,
We can better meet again,
If they blow.
—James Whitcomb Riley.

VOTE TOMORROW

The nation is looking toward the primaries in California and will watch with great interest the results as they will be flashed east tomorrow night. Of course the votes in the Republican National convention from California are already lined up for Herbert Hoover. There is no contest. These delegates will be loyal and enthusiastic and back of them is a real united state. A magnificent vote for Mr. Hoover, without a contest, will be a personal compliment and at the same time show a popularity among the rank and file of folks that will impress the country more completely of the availability of Mr. Hoover as a candidate. Every registered Republican should vote. Let us do it for our own sake, for the state's sake and for our interest in civic matters.

Every Democrat who is registered certainly will vote tomorrow. Three candidates are presented to him for his suffrage. Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, Senator James Reed of Missouri, and Senator Thomas Walsh of Montana. Not only are these three individual characters, but they represent distinct ideas and ideals. Governor Smith is an amiable, successful, and popular man who typifies the liberal views of the east on the liquor question. Senator Reed, with similar views to Governor Smith on the liquor question, is rather an iconoclast in politics. He is an honest, rugged, independent man who unhesitatingly broke with President Wilson on the League of Nations and in his re-election to the Senate had to encounter the opposition of President Wilson. He has done considerable to arouse the nation over crookedness and corruption by his use of picturesque English in describing the conditions.

Senator Walsh of Montana stands for all that Reed does in straight-forward dealing. He has been a strong factor in uncovering crookedness in high places and he is in harmony with the Constitution and laws of his country in every respect, including prohibition, which the other two candidates are not. It is between him and Governor Smith that the contest in California in the Democratic ranks undoubtedly lies, and the Democrats will make their choice in harmony with their personal beliefs. The vote will be considered quite significant in the Democratic party, as well as the Republican. However you are intending to vote, be sure and vote. Do not neglect it. Let us serve notice on the nation that California is interested in citizenship and its obligations as it is in all other important and what some consider more personal and material affairs. Vote! Vote early. Do not permit any other obligations to interfere.

THE IMMIGRATION LAW GOES OVER

It has been agreed to by both parties in Congress that the present quotas governing immigration shall not be taken up at this session of Congress. The law which was to expire July 1st of this year has been continued for another year.

This is more evidence that we are in the midst of a presidential campaign, and that a new Congress is to be elected. The immigration question is too sensitive a question to be dealt with in view of the election. The foreign vote is pretty much against the present law, while the American vote is pretty much for it. Both sides are quite determined, and where action is to be taken by Congress on a question on which the electorate has a strong opinion, the policy of our law makers is to duck—at least for the present.

The matter is not serious, for another year of the present law will not be harmful to the country, but this attitude toward the immigration question illustrates the attitude toward all vital questions in a presidential year. The history of Congress shows that all important legislation is passed in the first Congress of every administration. Those who recall the tremendous worth-while legislation that passed through Congress the first two years of the Wilson Administration need not be reminded of that fact. Some of the most important measures ever passed by Congress in all its history were passed during those first two years.

BRITAIN'S DRINK BILL

The people of Great Britain and Northern Ireland spent approximately $1,450,000,000 last year for liquors. This is an enormous bill. Add $100,000,000 to that great amount, and it would meet the interest on their national debt, which calls annually for somewhat over one billion and a half dollars. As a matter of fact, about $740,000,000 of the liquor money did go toward paying the national debt.

All this seems like a horrible waste in a country which has more unemployment than any other country of the world. It would appear that the industrial leaders of the country would do something to correct this great evil, as they have done here in the United States. It is well to remember that prohibition in this country was quite as much an economic reform as a moral reform. The moral elements of the country could never have put over national prohibition without the reinforcement of the great industrial organization.

In England, however, there has never been as pervasive a temperance sentiment as there was in the United States. Even today the man who gets up in Hyde Park in London to advocate prohibition gets no hearing because of the persistent heckling of the crowd. The heckling is of the good-natured variety, but it effectively squelches the arguments and the speech of the prohibition orator. To separate an Englishman from his beer and a Scotchman from his glass of toddy requires something more than a surgical operation. There is no right of which they are more jealous than this right of their beer and their whiskey.

Drinking is on the decrease in Great Britain, but it is not the growth of the total abstinence spirit that is the principal cause of it. It is the high cost of liquor that has made for a decrease in drink. To pay six pence (12 cents) for a glass of beer that might have been had before the war for a penny and a half or two pence, of necessity limits the amount the common English workman can consume. Restrictions of one kind and another are being put upon the sale of liquor. Saloons are not open certain evenings of the week, and they are not permitted to be opened before the workman goes to his work for the day.

With these restrictions and the high cost of liquor there is a growing anti-liquor sentiment in the country, but the era of prohibition yet lies in the remote future. The Englishman is too fond of his drink to surrender his privilege to it. Still it may be said that progress is being made toward that far-off event.

LARGE SALARIES FOR CORPORATE OFFICIALS

An examination of the estate of the late head of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation, Judge Elbert Gary, reveals the fact that he received an annual salary of $250,000 a year, and that the bonus received in addition brought it somewhat above $400,000. We wonder if any man is worth that much to any corporation. We pay the President of the United States $75,000 a year, and the United States is the largest and the richest corporation in the world. It is large salaries like these that lead to questioning on the part of those people who find it hard to make ends meet.

We recognize that some men are more creative than others, and that they are deserving of larger rewards. It is folly for any man to deny a just recompense to the men who are doing great things, and who make it possible for thousands to get a living who by their own genius or efforts could not possibly make a living. But modesty in corporate salaries ought to be more in evidence. The United States Steel Corporation is for all practical purposes a monopoly. It controls practically all the iron ores of the country. No other steel company could continue to do business without its co-operation. It has the power to fix prices, and could easily crush any competitor who tried to break the price scale. It has the place of vantage in the steel industry.

It was shown also after Judge Gary's death, that he was by no means the vital factor in the building up of the corporation. There were many others who had more to do with its prosperity than he. Therefore the payment of such a large annual stipend to him was altogether out of reason. It will come as a surprise to many that his salary was so large. We venture to say that the new Chairman will not begin to get that amount. Men are entitled to a just return for their productive energies, but we submit that a salary as large as that received by Judge Gary during his lifetime is inexcusable for even so large a corporation as the United States Steel corporation to pay.

OUR CHILDREN

SCHOOL AND THE JOB

Tim had arrived at the leggy stage. He was very tired of school and not really able to go to work. He hated the sitting still and listening. He dreaded trying to recite his half learned, partly understood lessons. The teacher irritated him with her sharp words and abrupt manner. He hated her school-mistress attitude. He wished he could get away somewhere, someplace; where things were different. He thought that going to work would be different so he found a job in his father's shop. Dad was understanding enough to apprentice him and to allow him to work in the afternoons. The foreman was strict but then the atmosphere was grownup and Tim wanted to feel grownup and work-while.

Last Thursday his geometry lesson was very poor. "You stay after school and write every one of those twenty-five times," said the teacher. "I will not be able to finish today," said Tim. "I have to leave at three thirty to get to the shop on time. I'll do the rest at home." "You stay right in the building until you finish that work," was the last word of the teacher. Tim wrote as fast as he could until three thirty. Then he laid his work on the teacher's desk with a note that told her he had done so many and would do the rest as he could find the time. Next day the teacher refused to allow him in class until his father came.

That is too bad. When an adolescent boy finds a place for himself outside of school we ought to help fill that place well. We have to hold to the school work and help the boy make use of his experience to further his job. Outside work is educational as well as the boy at this stage of his growth than the lesson. We have to study the growth of the boy and provide for its idiosyncrasies! School must supplement as well as lead and the wise teacher will find a way to make the outside job inspire the school job to the boy's benefit.

An outside job will often give the school a point of vantage in handling the boy and girl who have become restless under the routine of school. The children do not grow smoothly and evenly, so much today and so much more tomorrow. They shoot ahead in some phases and lag behind in others so that you find them adult in some respects and children in others. One of the functions of the school is to help the child adjust himself to the world he finds himself in, strengthening his weak places and providing service for his strengths. The school should never be jealous of outside interests but welcome them and put them to use.

When a girl gets a job in a beauty parlor, instead of making it hard for her to hold it, help her. Get her to tell what she has to do and talk over her difficulties with her. Life in the shop is far more interesting than lessons in school, but if the teacher betrays knowledge that is helpful outside, in the job, the pupil takes a new interest in the teacher. Suddenly the teacher becomes REAL. We must make use of the outside job in the education of the children. If school cannot reach life then school fails.

The Last Adventure

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO A WREN

I like to hear your brave clear voice
When first the dusk begins to hover
And you light-heartedly rejoice,
Half hidden in a leafy cover.
Your days are spent in toil and strife
You have scant reason for thanksgiving
Yet loudly you proclaim that life
Is worth the living.

Though days are chill and winds are rude
You still pour forth your exultation
What time you feed the clamorous brood
That crowds your tiny habitation.
Through storm or sunshine, all day long
Their meals to hungry mites you carry
An onerous duty—yet your song
Is always merry.

Pursued by cats, and owls and jays
Still joyously you chirp and carol
As if you never dreamed your days
Were always filled with deadly peril
And when the sun has gone to rest
And weary, homeward you come winging
To perch above your sheltered nest,
You still are singing.

But when you rise before the dawn
Has spread its streamers, pink and pearly,
To hop about the dewy lawn
In quest of worms that wake too early,
Your song no doubt still sweetly chimes
But while I try to slumber through it
And try in vain, I think at times
You overdo it!

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE TALKER

I know a person, it happens to be a woman, who is a great talker. She never says anything that is worth remembering, but she talks constantly.

Things that are so obvious and commonplace that others never think of mentioning she is always commenting upon. She seems to have an abundance of energy, but it all runs to making a noise with her mouth.

As far as can be seen the talker never does accomplish much. It is natural to seek self expression, but to express everything is about the same as expressing nothing.

There is a difference between the talker and the doer, between a man who is able to describe things fluently and exactly and well and the man who can do things and cannot describe them at all.

Your talker can tell all about a good dinner, but your doer can put on an apron and get a good dinner, although she cannot describe how it is done.

What this world needs is more doers, more people who can express themselves in efficient action. An examination or a test is of little value in ascertaining one's ability. The real way to find out that is to set them upon a task and see whether or not they perform it well.

Doing clears the mind and makes for clearness of ideas. Talking does not do anything much except to entertain one's self and possibly one's friends with pleasant sounds.

Yet there is something entertaining about a talker, something sociable and companionable. If they do not do anything else they cheer us up a bit.

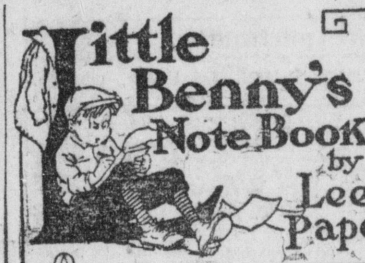

Talk helps to lubricate humanity and makes social friction less liable.

For there are some people who carry silence to an excess. They would get along much better if they would frankly express themselves.

A story is told of three hunters in Canada. After breakfast one morning one of them said, "Did you hear that dog?" No answer was made until the next morning after breakfast. A second one then said, "What dog?" On the third morning the third member of the party was seen packing his traps. They asked him what he was going to do, and he said, "I'm going away. There's too much rag chewing around here for me."

This afternoon ma was wawking around the living room pushing crooked things strate and strate things crooked, saying, I have an idee that the top of the clock needs dusting, I know I havent dusted it for some time, and I know if I havent nobody elts around heer has unless everybody's character has suddinly changed.

And she got up on a chair and started to dust the top of the clock and all of a suddin she dusted something off of it besides dust, being her diamond ring, saying, Well of all things, was that doing up there by any possibility? I know without asking, your father found it lying around some-ware and put it up there to make me think it was lost. Well I'll just show him, I've got a good idee, hee hee, she sed.

And she put the ring back on top of the clock, and after supper she was looking at the funny page without laffing and pop was smoking and thinking, saying, By the way, Pawleen, your lily white fingers seem to be flashing all by themselves without the assistants of your diamond ring, waw is it?

O, its safe, ma sed, and pop sed, So is my lost youth but I cant lay my hands on it, and by gollies I bet the same thing is true of your diamond ring.

Sutch nonsense, I can lay my hands on it any time I chose, ma sed, and pop sed, Seeing is bleev-ling. Meaning he doubted it, and ma sed, All rite, then have a good look.

And she got up on a chair and took her diamond ring off of the top of the clock and showed it to pop and put it back on the top of the clock agen and got down, pop saying, Well wat the how the mischief did you know it was up there?

How did I know, dont tawik silly, I always keep it up there, ma sed. Why, dont you think thats a good place for it, hee, hee, she sed. Ware did you think I kept it, hee hee? she sed.

You win, the joke is on me, pop sed. Not laffing to prove it.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE GOLD OF EXCITEMENT

This is an age of excitement. A thousand distractions daily pluck at our sleeve.

We tend to adjust ourselves to this plucking and to be lonely if the plucking ceases for a time.

Leisure hours become a problem, for we depend less and less upon ourselves and more and more upon others for the stimuli that keep us alert after office hours.

I have written often of the dross there is in this ceaseless external excitement of our time, but there is gold as well as dross in excitement.

From the dawn of human history until the five star finals of yesterday's press, man has hungered for excitement, and when he has been unable to satisfy his hunger for excitement he has fallen into boredom, and being bored he has sulked and sinned. Nietzsche rightly suggested that the mother of debauchery is not joy but joylessness.

In the wild hunter-days of the race, men did not lack excitement. When the race settled down to a pastoral life, the old thrills of the chase were missing, and there were few artificial devices to create a substitute excitement.

But today there is no lack of artificial devices to create substitutes for the thrills our hunter-ancestors found in the jungle and on the plains.

In so far as we use these external stimuli to excitement to keep our spirits free from boredom, there is gold in the excitement, even though the excitement itself be superficial.

In the April issue of The Macmorah Journal, Bertrand Russell checks these modern stimuli to excitement up as moral gains.

"A considerable moral improvement has come from the lessening of boredom," he says. "Winter in the Middle Ages was appalling from this point of view. Most people could not read, and if they could the light was too bad after sunset. Roads were impassable, so that there was practically no social life. There was no tea or coffee or tobacco. I think boredom accounts for the fact that large populations in the Middle Ages were subject to fits of collective insanity; also for the prevalence of incest and every kind of brutality in family life. The same kind of thing may still be seen among backward peasant communities; but good roads, automobiles, adequate lighting and heating are rapidly causing it to disappear."

"Moralists are apt to complain of the love of excitement in modern urban life, and we are perpetually told of the harm done to children by the movies. (But) excitement, up to a point, is one of our needs, and if we cannot get it any other way we get it by quarrels with our neighbors or relatives. No doubt the movies do not always supply the ideal form of excitement for children; no doubt, also, it is easy to overdo excitement. But a certain minimum is necessary for mental health. And from the introduction of agriculture until modern times, most people have had less than their needs required, because tilling the soil is less exciting than hunting."

The modern tragedy is found in the man for whom the excitement of the movies is not a supplement to the excitement of the mind, but a substitute for them. Copyright 1928 McClure Newspaper Synd.

Homing Golf Balls

Christian Science Monitor

Golfers have come a step nearer the ultimate. The unlosable golf ball has been patented. No matter where it is driven—on the fairway, in the rough or into the innermost depths of the most hazardous hazard—it will come figuratively speaking, romping back like a touselled cub, who has just had a dip in the surf. The formula of the inventor is comparatively simple. By application of the process, golf balls that have strayed from their owners may be found by asserting themselves to the sight, smell or hearing.

Fancy hearing a lost golf ball calling to its master! But that is precisely what this inventor contemplates. The ball is covered or immersed in a pyrotechnic solution similar to the material from which "spit-devils" used by small boys on the Fourth of July—are made. When the ball is struck it fulminates and continues to crackle and sputter for some minutes, or perhaps moments, thereby enabling the golfer to find it. If that device is unsatisfactory, or annoys the owner who objects to hearing little golf balls calling for him, he may immerse the ball, before teeing off, in a solution of phosphorus and carbon bisulphide. As the solvent evaporates the phosphorus will emit a perceptible glow, even in daylight. If the golfer wants to play at night, so be it.

But the most aesthetic appeal of the unlosable golf ball is through the sense of smell. The ball is coated with some of the essential oils, such as attar of roses—expensive? yes, but what matters that to the ardent golfer?—and thereby gives off a pleasing and pervading aroma.

Imagine two golfers meeting in the rough searching for balls that have strayed beyond their ken. "Ah, one may say, sniffing politely, 'here it is.'"

The other may raise his head, also sniffing politely, then adding "Sorry and thanks, old chap, but that's not mine. I'm using black narcissus. That's obviously violet." Then after a moment or two, meeting other searchers, one of the golfers may say: "I say, old chap, if you're using violet this season you'll find the ball over by the hedge."

Candor Like this Worth Something In a Candidate

San Francisco Chronicle

Political surprises in Texas didn't end with "Ma" Ferguson nor with Jesse Jones roping the national convention for Houston. But there comes Jeff Fowler of Thorncornton, who strongly recommends two opponents for a county office. One, he says in an official declaration, "has led a life of noble deeds." Jeff "also loves" the other and is sure the voters' confidence in him "would not be misplaced."

As to his own claims he says he wants the office because he "can make a living out of it." To get the full significance of this it must be read in the light of his opening sentence: "Having been strongly solicited by my wife, I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney." Let us hope he will be elected. We fear that if he isn't he is going to have an uncomfortable time of it.

Youth and Advertising

Hemet News

Fifty years ago boys and girls were adept at weaving rag rugs, knotting quilts, carding wool, spinning homespun, and stitching carpets. Today boys and girls know the entire a b c of the automobile, the electric household utensils, the steam heat system, the aeroplane and the radio. But the youth of today knows little of what constituted the store of knowledge of the youth of yesterday.

The omniscience of youth in every era is ever amazing, but that of today would be inexplicable but for one thing more than all others. That is advertising. In the newspapers, magazines and poster boards children are finding a vast storehouse of practical and useful information and instruction. The value of this incidentally acquired knowledge cannot be measured in classroom hours. The youth of America is finding that advertising pays it.

Psychologists have expounded the theory that truths are sometimes observed first by the adolescent. In the case of advertising it may truthfully be said that there are some of mature age who have not yet learned the value of advertising. Advertisers do not buy newspaper, magazine or billboard space for the edification of the public, either juvenile or adult, but they recognize the children of today are not only a potent factor in the business of today but the deciding factors in the business of tomorrow.
